CHEMISTS in Philadelphia discuss the great loss in making steel. Mr. Wills, automobile maker, who worked with Henry Ford when they hired a little factory for $750 a year, could tell chemists something interesting. A new process of making steel will be developed, by the right people, on a gigantic scale, and produce infinitely better steel at lower cost. Made at a lower temperature than is now employed, the steel will have the quality of old Damascus steel, beaten out by hand. Full details later.

The news is important to California, supposed to lack iron. About half way between Los Angeles and San Francisco there are 12 miles of iron sand, at present useless, that can be made into the best of steel by the new electric process. And California waterfalls will supply the lectricity.

Japan, supposed to be dependent on us or Europe for iron and steel, is now independent. In Northern Japan, where the shores were tilted up by volcanic forces long ago, the Japanese have developed three hundred million tons of steel, available with the new process.

Americans do not lag behind. The big steel company, Judge Gary, chairman, Mr. Farrell, president, has developed hundreds of millions of tons of steel in Brazil. There is great water power there, not used, that can be turned into electricity and then into cheap steel.

Have You a Child In School?

Then write today for the booklet on "School Lunches" which the Washington bureau of this paper has for distribution.

The noon lunch is one of the most important school problems. Right thinking depends on the right food. Easy progress and easy digestion have more to do with each other than most people realize or admit.

This little booklet tells about foods that children must have, keeping down the cost of the diet, the importance of good bread, cleanliness in the handling of food, the noon meal at home, the basket lunch, packing the lunch, lunches prepared at school, sample bills of fare, and recipes for lunches.

Enclose four cents in stamps to cover the return postage and handling.

HONEYMOONERS WERE GUESTS IN STORM-TORN MIAMI HOTEL

No Word Received From Willard Birkett and Bride.

J. O. TAYLOR SAFE

East Liverpool Youth Acts as Courier in Hurricane Zone.

2 P. M. BULLETIN

"The Birketts are safe," said a telegram received here today from Sebring, Fla., by Dr. C. H. Birkett.

Fears were entertained here today for the safety of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Birkett, of this city, honeymooners, and guests in the Wofford hotel, at Miami, Florida, which was badly damaged Saturday, when the roof caved in during a hurricane which struck the Florida east coast, killing probably a thousand people, making 40,000 homeless, and wreaking property damage estimated at more than $50,000,000.

Taylor Sends Message.

No word has been received from the Birketts since the storm struck. They were said to have been staying in a room on the third floor of the Wofford, a five-floor hotel.

J. O. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer J. Taylor, of the boulevard, drove the first automobile out of Miami following the storm. Scenes of havoc attending the catastrophe were described briefly by young Taylor in a telegram to his parents here.

Enacting the role of courier, Taylor carried messages to Palm Beach, all means of communication between Miami and the outside world having been cut off.

The storm, as Taylor describes it, beggars description. It is not likely, he asserts, that the debris will be cleaned up before six months at the least.

The city is now threatened with a shortage of food and water and the militia has ben ordered out for duty.

Taylor plans to go to Sebring, Fla., where he will stay with relatives.

The Taylor property at Miami was badly damaged by the storm.

Aid is Offered Stricken Florida By Buckeye State

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 20.—Recalling Florida's interest in Ohio's great disaster at Lorain of a little more than two years ago, Governor A. Vic Donaheythis morning wired Governor John W. Martin of Florida, the state's sympathy and offering any aid the State of Ohio may give.

"Ohio extends sincerest sympathy to Florida in her disaster. We are reminded of the northern Ohio tornado of June 28, 1924. If this state can be of assistance to you in any way please command us," his wire read.

The state of Florida sent $175 for relief in the devastated Lorain district in 1924.

SKULL CRUSHED BY BLOW FROM AUTO TIRE PUMP

Fred Williams, 20, Chester, Seriously Injured.

NO ARREST MADE

Alleged Victim Attempted to Pull Driver From Car.

Fred Williams, 20, residing back of Rock Springs park, Chester, is in a serious condition in the City hospital today, suffering from a compound fracture of the skull, as a result of being struck on the head Saturday afternoon with an auto tire pump.

According to police, the pump was wielded by Sidney Johnson, 42, of Locust Hill.

Williams, police say, attempted to pull Johnson from his automobile in which he was sitting at Third street and Carolina avenue, Chester. His efforts being resisted, Williams, it is alleged, next directed his attention to a son of Johnson who occupied a rear seat in the car. Johnson, then, it is claimed, jumped from the car, seized the pump and struck Williams on the head, knocking him to the ground. Williams was rendered unconscious.

Dr. George E. Lewis, who was summoned, ordered the injured man taken to the hospital. An operation was performed by Dr. C. H. Bailey, assisted by Dr. Lewis.

Johnson was arrested by Chief of Police Smith of Chester at noon today on charge of assault with intent to kill, preferred by Mrs. Mary Williams, mother of the injured man. Arraigned before Justice A. G. Allison of Chester, he waived a hearing and was bound over to the Hancock county grand jury under $1,000 bond which was furnished.

31 OTHERS FREED ON $15 FORFEITS

Twenty-seven Men and Four Women Face Woodlawn Court as Result of Saturday Midnight Liquor Seizure.

Thirty-two persons, including one of the alleged owners, were arrested at midnight Saturday night when a squad of Pennsylvania deputies and state police, under the leadership of Assistant County Detective William Davidson, of Beaver, swooped down upon the Fox and McCoy ranch on Mill Creek hill, Frankfort-Chester road, about three miles back of Chester.

One gallon of wine, three quarts of whisky and two cases of beer, according to the raiders, were confiscated, while the prisoners were taken before Justice of the Peace Clyde Hayward, of Woodlawn, Pa.

Paul McCoy, one of the alleged owners, who is charged with manufacturing and possessing liquor, was remanded to jail in default of $2,000 bond. He is to be given a hearing at 7 o'clock tonight.

Of the 31 others in the place, all charged with visiting a disorderly house, 27 were men and four were women. Seventeen posted $15 each with the court and were released, while the others remained in jail over night, when friends came to their aid.

The prisoners were from East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester, Midland and Weirton.

OHIO GAS RATE IS PROTESTED

COLUMBUS, Sept. 20.—City solicitors of Elyria, Bucyrus and Marion today filed motions with the state utilities commission in behalf of cities, towns and other municipalities protesting the request of the Logan Gas company to increase rates asking the commission to continue the next hearing date. September 28 to November 1, and seeking to have the commission to order the gas company to furnish certain desired data or permit W. H. Weiss, engineer employed by the protestants, to go over the books of the company.

Express Train Hits Section Gang; Four Men are Killed

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 20—Speeding around a sharp curve near here an express train of the Philadelphia and Reading railway plunged into a section gang repairing railroad ties and killed four laborers and probably fatally injured another.

Six other workmen narrowly avoided death by quick leaps to safety.

The dead: Leonard Depepee, section foreman; Arthur Ridenous, Stevo Bagi and Steve Spekel, all of Pottstown.

TRESPASSER EITHER FALLS OR IS KNOCKED FROM VIADUCT

Kenneth Myers of Lisbon is Badly Injured.

WALKING TRACKS

Accident Occurs as Westbound Trolley Car Approaches.

Kenneth Myers, 17, of Lisbon, colored, is in a serious condition in the city hospital as a result of injuries received at 11:30 o'clock this morning when he either fell or was knocked from the West Sixth street viaduct, as a city traction car swung around the corner adjacent to the Sixth street school building and started down the slope.

Myers, who fell more than 25 feet, received a fracture of his right thigh and was said to have been hurt badly about the chest.

The youth was walking from Wellsville and took a short cut to Sixth street over the viaduct. According to the report filed with traction company officials, he was walking up the east bound track when he heard the whistle of an eastbound car in the distance. At the time he was probably 30 or 40 feet from the end of the concrete wall at the upper end of the viaduct. He crossed over to the westbound track and simultaneously with his action a westbound car shot around the corner of the concrete wall.

The lad, it was reported, jumped to the edge of the ties just as the car passed, and, according to the story he told traction company officials, he didn't know whether the car hit him or he just slipped off.

Motorman Neiswonger and Conductor Charles Goodwin were in charge of the car. Neiswonger was unable to check the momentum of the car before it reached the spot where the boy stood.

Myers was attended by Dr. Clyde Larkins.

FIRE DAMAGES ALLISON HOME

Damage amounting to several hundred dollars was caused by fire, said to have originated from a short circuit, in the cellar of the Albert Allison home in Cadmus street last night at 9:30 o'clock. The flames, which had started up a partition, were checked by the fire department.

The department also answered a call to Jethro hollow shortly before noon today where an automobile, belonging to the Goodwin Battery company, was on fire. The flames were caused, it is said, by crossed wires. The car was only slightly damaged.

TWISTER STRIKES PENSACOLA, NAVAL RADIO DISPATCH SAYS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The tropical hurricane has struck Pensacola, Fla., according to a meager naval radio dispatch received here at 10:45 a. m. today by the navy department from the navy's wireless station in Pensacola.

The message merely stated that a gale with a velocity of 100 miles an hour had struck the city. The message was relayed here by the naval radio at Key West, Fla.

There were no details given of damage or loss of life.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—President Coolidge, alarmed by the increasing magnitude of the Florida hurricane disaster, this afternoon issued an appeal to the people of the United States to open their purse strings and contribute generously through the Red Cross for relief work among the thousands of sufferers.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 20.—Miami whose marvelous man-made speed in development and construction brought its title—the 'Magic City"—today was shoved back where it was 10 years ago—levelled by the greater necromancy of nature in faster time than puny humans could ever achieve.

The famous resort city and its neighbor, Miami Beach, were the heaviest sufferers in the terrific hurricane which swept in early Saturday morning, tearing down all communication with the lower east Florida coast, ripping apart all things before it, blowing down homes and razing office buildings and leaving an estimated death toll of at least 1,000 with possibilities that this may rise as bodies are uncovered from debris.

Property damage may reach hundreds of millions.

The most optimistic estimates rate the death list as at least 400.

HOLLYWOOD PRACTICALLY WIPED OUT; NO WATER, FOOD OR LIGHT

FORT PIERCE, Fla., Sept. 20.—Thirty thousand people are homeless in Miami and eight thousand homeless in Hollywood today as a result of the tropical hurricane which swept across Southern Florida, leaving death and disaster in its wake.

Accurate figures on the number of dead and injured were not obtainable this morning, but apparently reliable and conservative estimates place the number killed in Miami at 500, in Hialeah 200 and in Hollywood at 54.

Hollywood, which is about 100 miles south of here, is practically destroyed. The town was leveled by the storm, which started late Friday night and reached its highest intensity between 7:30 a. m. and 9:30 a. m. Saturday.

Martial law has been declared in Miami and Hollywood.

The extent of the property damage is enormous. In Miami alone it is estimated at $100,000,000 at least.

All of the stricken localities are in need of immediate help. Cities and

Included in the cargo are several hundred coffins sent from Tampa, St. Petersburg, and other Florida cities.

Scores of bodies have been seen lying beside thke track and floating in the water.

TERRIFIC GALE WHIPS ALABAMA AND LOUISIANA AS SHIPS IN HURRICANE AREA BEGIN TO REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20.—Mobile, Ala., and Pensacola, Fla., were cut off from the outside world today as the tropical hurricane continued its work of destruction in southeastern Florida and along the Alabama and northwestern Florida coast.

All wires to Mobile and Pensacola were down while coast towns were at the mercy of gales running at 75 miles an hour, accompanied by a heavy downpour of rain.

The United Fruit company here today said their advices were that the storm was centered around Jensacola and Mobile. No definite information was available, however, and the Tropical Aadio office here has been unable to raise the Pensacola aid station which was believed disabled by the storm.

Extreme high tides were predicted and fears were entertained for the safety of ships, many of which took to safety several days ago when the hurricane first broke.

The coming of the storm found the people of the coast towns well prepared. Storm warnings were hoisted Friday and Saturday and inhabitants of towns along the coast warned of the hurricane.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 20.—The tropical hurricane has struck the southeast Alabama coast and all communications with Mobile and other coast towns was cut off today.

Governor Brandon dispatched three airplanes from Maxwell Field to the area cut off by the storm to ascertain the damage. The planes are expected back here by noon.

Mobile, according to reports here, was in the throes of a 75-mile-an-hour gale. Train service to the southeastern part of the state was disrupted and all wires were down.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20.—Indications that the tropical hurricane may strike the Louisiana coast today was seen in the 75-mile-an-hour gale which began blowing early this morning. Rain was falling and seas were running high.

The barometer at Burwood, La., dropped from 29.64 to 29.56 in a few hours. The tide was high with 34-mile-an-hour winds.

The barometer also fell four points in Mobile and New Orleans and apprehension for safety of boats in the Mississippi increased.

When last definitely located the hurricane center was approximately 180 miles east southeast of New Orleans. If moving northwest, the hurricane will strike this vicinity in a few hours but if it has curved to the north it will hit its hardest blow in the Pensacola-Mobile vicinity, weather bureau officials believed.

A 60-mile an hour gale was reported in Mobile, Alabama, at 8 a. m. today.

An advisory weather report issued this morning said the storm was likely to hit near the mouth of the Mississippi than Pensacola. It predicted extreme high tides for the middle gulf and Lake Pontchartrain.

At Bay St. Louis and Gulfport, Miss., the barometer registered a drop of 14 points. Small craft from Biloxi to Gulfport have sought places of safety.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Ships missing in the hurricane area off the Florida coast began reporting today.

Eight vessels plying between New York and tropical ports had been missing, but word from them began to flash in by radio to steamship offices here this morning.

Word came that the steamer Pawnee of the Clyde line missed the storm and is safe in port at Jacksonville. The steamship Chedokee of the same line also reacher port.

No word has come, however, from the steamship President Harrison of the Dollar line nor has the steamship Finland of the Panama Pacific line been heard from. Both left Thursday for Havana.

The United Fruit company, which operates numerous boats through the hurricane area, told International News Service that so far as they know none of their vessels are missing.

Fear had been expressed concerning the Lamport and Holt liner Vandyck, which had been enroute from Buenos Aires and thought to have been in the path of the storm, but radio dispatches this morning said she was safe and would arrive here Wednesday.

Word was being awaited from the Santa Theresa, headed for Christobal, the Coma en route to Porto Rico and

RED CROSS TELEGRAPHS CHAPTERS TO 'STAND BY' TORNADO-TORN CITIES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The machinery of federal relief was set in motion today to aid the thousands of homeless and stricken people in Florida.

The American Red Cross has telegraphed all its chapters to "stand by" to succor tornado-torn cities, and to the largest chapter nearest the scene of disaster orders have been dispatched to rush all possible foodstuffs and tents to the devastated area.

The war department is ready to rush further supplies from its nearest concentration points, the actual movement awaiting only definite information as to where they are most needed.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 20.—Miami whose marvelous man-made speed in development and construction brought its title—the 'Magic City"—today was shoved back where it was 10 years ago—levelled by the greater necromancy of nature in faster time than puny humans could ever achieve.

The famous resort city and its neighbor, Miami Beach, were the heaviest sufferers in the terrific hurricane which swept in early Saturday morning, tearing down all communication with the lower east Florida coast, ripping apart all things before it, blowing down homes and razing office buildings and leaving an estimated death toll of at least 1,000 with possibilities that this may rise as bodies are uncovered from debris.

Property damage may reach hundreds of millions.

The most optimistic estimates rate the death list as at least 400.

HOLLYWOOD PRACTICALLY WIPED OUT; NO WATER, FOOD OR LIGHT

FORT PIERCE, Fla., Sept. 20.—Thirty thousand people are homeless in Miami and eight thousand homeless in Hollywood today as a result of the tropical hurricane which swept across Southern Florida, leaving death and disaster in its wake.

Accurate figures on the number of dead and injured were not obtainable this morning, but apparently reliable and conservative estimates place the number killed in Miami at 500, in Hialeah 200 and in Hollywood at 54.

Hollywood, which is about 100 miles south of here, is practically destroyed. The town was leveled by the storm, which started late Friday night and reached its highest intensity between 7:30 a. m. and 9:30 a. m. Saturday.

Martial law has been declared in Miami and Hollywood.

The extent of the property damage is enormous. In Miami alone it is estimated at $100,000,000 at least.

All of the stricken localities are in need of immediate help. Cities and

MEDICAL BASE TO BE ESTABLISHED AT SEBRING AS RELIEF IS RUSHED

ABOARD THE FLORIDA RELIEF TRAIN, SEBRING, FLA., Sept. 20.—Every soul in Florida who escaped the wrath of Saturday's hurricane was giving without stint today.

Every city, town and hamlet through which the relief train passed have contributed foodstuffs, clothing, first aid equipment; have sent their doctors, their nurses, their undertakers, and all with a glad heart and a willing spirit.

For Moore Haven, that direly stricken Everglades city which cannot be reached by land, the train is carrying rafts and canoes to enable the relief workers and the supplies to get there.

Included in the cargo are several hundred coffins sent from Tampa, St. Petersburg, and other Florida cities.

Scores of bodies have been seen lying beside thke track and floating in the water.

RED CROSS TELEGRAPHS CHAPTERS TO 'STAND BY' TORNADO-TORN CITIES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The machinery of federal relief was set in motion today to aid the thousands of homeless and stricken people in Florida.

The American Red Cross has telegraphed all its chapters to "stand by" to succor tornado-torn cities, and to the largest chapter nearest the scene of disaster orders have been dispatched to rush all possible foodstuffs and tents to the devastated area.

The war department is ready to rush further supplies from its nearest concentration points, the actual movement awaiting only definite information as to where they are most needed.

TERRIFIC GALE WHIPS ALABAMA AND LOUISIANA AS SHIPS IN HURRICANE AREA BEGIN TO REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20.—Mobile, Ala., and Pensacola, Fla., were cut off from the outside world today as the tropical hurricane continued its work of destruction in southeastern Florida and along the Alabama and northwestern Florida coast.

All wires to Mobile and Pensacola were down while coast towns were at the mercy of gales running at 75 miles an hour, accompanied by a heavy downpour of rain.

The United Fruit company here today said their advices were that the storm was centered around Jensacola and Mobile. No definite information was available, however, and the Tropical Aadio office here has been unable to raise the Pensacola aid station which was believed disabled by the storm.

Extreme high tides were predicted and fears were entertained for the safety of ships, many of which took to safety several days ago when the hurricane first broke.

The coming of the storm found the people of the coast towns well prepared. Storm warnings were hoisted Friday and Saturday and inhabitants of towns along the coast warned of the hurricane.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 20.—The tropical hurricane has struck the southeast Alabama coast and all communications with Mobile and other coast towns was cut off today.

Governor Brandon dispatched three airplanes from Maxwell Field to the area cut off by the storm to ascertain the damage. The planes are expected back here by noon.

Mobile, according to reports here, was in the throes of a 75-mile-an-hour gale. Train service to the southeastern part of the state was disrupted and all wires were down.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20.—Indications that the tropical hurricane may strike the Louisiana coast today was seen in the 75-mile-an-hour gale which began blowing early this morning. Rain was falling and seas were running high.

The barometer at Burwood, La., dropped from 29.64 to 29.56 in a few hours. The tide was high with 34-mile-an-hour winds.

The barometer also fell four points in Mobile and New Orleans and apprehension for safety of boats in the Mississippi increased.

When last definitely located the hurricane center was approximately 180 miles east southeast of New Orleans. If moving northwest, the hurricane will strike this vicinity in a few hours but if it has curved to the north it will hit its hardest blow in the Pensacola-Mobile vicinity, weather bureau officials believed.

A 60-mile an hour gale was reported in Mobile, Alabama, at 8 a. m. today.

An advisory weather report issued this morning said the storm was likely to hit near the mouth of the Mississippi than Pensacola. It predicted extreme high tides for the middle gulf and Lake Pontchartrain.

At Bay St. Louis and Gulfport, Miss., the barometer registered a drop of 14 points. Small craft from Biloxi to Gulfport have sought places of safety.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Ships missing in the hurricane area off the Florida coast began reporting today.

Eight vessels plying between New York and tropical ports had been missing, but word from them began to flash in by radio to steamship offices here this morning.

Word came that the steamer Pawnee of the Clyde line missed the storm and is safe in port at Jacksonville. The steamship Chedokee of the same line also reacher port.

No word has come, however, from the steamship President Harrison of the Dollar line nor has the steamship Finland of the Panama Pacific line been heard from. Both left Thursday for Havana.

The United Fruit company, which operates numerous boats through the hurricane area, told International News Service that so far as they know none of their vessels are missing.

Fear had been expressed concerning the Lamport and Holt liner Vandyck, which had been enroute from Buenos Aires and thought to have been in the path of the storm, but radio dispatches this morning said she was safe and would arrive here Wednesday.

Word was being awaited from the Santa Theresa, headed for Christobal, the Coma en route to Porto Rico and

By Katharine Brush

BOOK TWO—XIV.

There was a silence, and then she rose and went out of the room. Jock remained, brooding. . . . Several months. It had a ghastly sound, incessant and drear, like a prison sentence. Several months without Yvonne. Without beauty, without color, without flame. A stretching nothingness. An aeon of misery, to be got through heaven alone knew how. But she cared a little, and that was something. And when she returned she would tell him. . . .

Presently he became restless. His last afternoon with her, and again he was waiting here alone, squandering all too many priceless minutes.

"Yvonne!" he shouted.

"Yes?"

"Come back here!"

"I will, in a second. I'm putting a hat and coat on."

"Why, what for?"

And they did. Somehow people always did what Yvonne wanted. Until evening dropped down on New York and the buildings were checkerboards of light and darkness they walked, and talked lightly (because Yvonne wanted it to be lightly) and grew pink with chill, and sparkling-eyes. . . .

"Itn't it glorious?" breathed Yvonne.

"Not as glorious as being back at your apartment."

Her laugh was a chord from a gay sweet song. "Don't you like Central Park?"

"I don't like any public place, with you, on our last—"

She intentionally misunderstood him. "Now there's a pretty compliment!" she mocked. Of course there are men who don't care to be seen about with me, but I didn't think the list included you!

Sheer nonsense, of course. But Jock wished she would not say such things.

They walked slowly, sauntering. A couple to make tired faces lift and soften as they passed, the boy so young, so good to look at, the girl perhaps not quite so young, but exotic, picturesque, in a chinchilla coat and a hat that cast flattering shadows. . . . Jock held Yvonne's arm tucked close to him, and his eyes never left her. They caressed her, did her homage.

"You mustn't look like that, Jock Hamill."

"Like what?"

"As though you were in love with me."

"Good Lord, I am—"

"Yes, but why let everybody know?"

They were nearing a bench on which reposed the shapeless figure of an old ragged man. Jock halted. "Sir," he said politely, "allow me to announce that I'm in love with this woman, and please tell as many people as you can find to listen."

They went on. "Silly boy!" smiled Yvonne tenderly.

Jock looked sober. "Did you get his expression?" he asked. "Surprised, and after that, wistful? It made him feel old and forlorn—the contrast—I'm sorry I did it—"

XV.

Their parting took place at five-thirty, abruptly. "Do you see that taxicab, Jock Hamill?"

"I do."

"Put me into it and send me home."

Jock stopped dead in his tracks. "Send you home? I'll do nothing of the sort. Why, I thought—aren't you going to have dinner with me? Yvonne! Your last night—"

"I'd rather you'd remember me in Central Park," said Yvonne, "than in an atmosphere of clattering china and planked steaks and—flappers." And to this decision she clung obstinately, though Jock tried almost with desperation to dissuade her. He felt cheated. She had tricked him into talking of inconsequential things when he thought he had hours left in which to talk, and he had said nothing of what filled his mind. Also he felt tortured, as though something inside him was dying a little. . . .

"Don't say goodbye," Yvonne commanded from the taxi. "I abominate that word. Just say something very collegiate and foolish—'See you in church,' or something like that—"

But Jock, stricken, could not even say something like that.

The door slammed.

Portrait of a lady, with a big black hat, with curving red hair, with lips that smiled and eyes that strangely did not smile. . . .

Then she was gone.

XVI.

The next day, in the automobile section of a New York Sunday paper, Jock chanced upon a single-column cut of a man whose features were dimly familiar. The caption line conveyed nothing to him. "Parke Demorest, president and general manager of the Demorest Motors Corporation." He looked hard at the picture again, scowling in concentration. Then it came to him. This was the man with the cold blue eyes who had entered the restaurant that first time he and Yvonne lunched together — the man whom Yvonne had joined, and with whom she had talked so long. Jock could almost hear her voice again, saying, "You have me coining epigrams, Parke," and then something about jealousy. . . . So that was who the follow was? Park Demorest, of Demorest Motors. Rich as Croesus. . .

He read the paragraph below the picture, an announcement of the purchase of some other, more obscure make of motor car by Parke Demorest. And finally, at the bottom, this:

XVII.

The first two weeks of December were busy, for which Jock was thankful, because they left him little time for thinking and remembering. He wished that he need not think at all; that he might make his mind a blank until such day as Yvonne should return from California and tell him the truth. Plenty of time then to cogitate matters. No use to try to do it now, when all one's suspicions were based on a single line of newspaper type that might possibly prove to be only coincidence, after all.

Numerous activities connived to keep him occupied. For one thing, he suddenly stared wild-eyed into the face of the fact that he had done almost no studying during the term. Mid-year exams loomed, a distinct and not far-distant menace. He turned to his subjects and began to absorb them with an avidity that incited Bones to lofty scorn. He took to listening in classes where he had previously only dreamed, and the fly-leaves of his textbooks knew his idly-scrawling pencil no longer.

For another thing, there was "practice." This meant that day after day Jock with his banjo and numerous comrades with instruments of divers sorts sat in informal attitudes around a great barren platform, while before them a frenzied youth in spectacles beat time, and tore his hair, and howled, "Come on, you saxes! What's the matter with the second violin? Louder, louder! Softer! Slower! Hey, get into the spirit of this thing, will you, fellows? Quit syncopating, over there—this is one tune that's got to be played as is. Oh, rotten! Lousy. We'll get hissed off the stage—" "We" was the University Musical Club, a combination of vocalists and instrumentalists, and the occasion of the practice was a concert to be given before the elite of Boston on the first night of the Christmas vacation.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1926.

City's First Dahlia Show

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and staged by a society of 35 amateur growers from Newell and Chester, W. Va., and Beaver, Pa., as well as the city proper, East Liverpool's first annual dahlia exhibition will be held on the second floor of the D. M. Ogilivie annex, Washington street, Thursday and Friday. The show will open to the public at 7 o'clock Thursday evening, and no admission will be charged.

Enthusiasm in the cultivation of the multi-colored flower has been manifested here since tests at Sewickley, Pa., have convinced lovers of the beautiful that the dahlia can be grown as successfully in the Ohio Valley as in Massachusetts and New Jersey. And the result is that the flower now adds to the attractiveness of front and back yards of homes whose owners have propagated it.

Hoping to stimulate even more interest in this worth-while movement, as well as to gain benefits that are inevitable in such an organization, without any thought of commercialism, dahlia growers in the district formed the East Liverpool society. And the only reward these amateur florists expect is an increase in the enrollment of flower lovers.

The first annual dahlia show should go a long way toward kindling the spark of civic pride, for it will acquaint the public with the ease with which the flower is grown. And consequently it should mean the beautifying of back yards and vacant lots which are now eye-sores.

Visit the dahlia exhibition Thursday and Friday.

Broader Broadcasting

The American Telephone and Telegraph company's big New York broadcasting station, WEAF, perhaps the best known station in the world, will be taken over by the Radio Corporation of America.

This seems to mean, first of all, that the A. T. and T. is going to stick to wires and confine its energies to ordinary telegraphy and telephony, leaving entertainment and news broadcasting to others.

It means, at the same time, that the Radio corporation is entering upon a career of expansion. It plans to take the relay broadcasting system developed by the A. T. and T. and broaden it to take in many more cities, making its New York programs available in every part of the country by combined use of wires and wireless. Programs, too, the officials say, will be broadened, to include important public events in every section of the country. The aim will be to build up what might be called a national radio service.

For all this the public will pay nothing—that is, directly. Expenses of broadcasting, which are very large, will be met as heretofore through advertising charges, paid by business firms which are satisfied to provide entertainment for the good will they get out of it. This is a natural development, and seems to work pretty well so far.

Any tendency to over-commercialism, making the advertising appeal offensive or tiresome, will doubtless be corrected by public disapproval.

The real danger of such a development, perhaps, is the growth of radio monopoly. But there seems no need of immediate worry about that. Congress is expected to provide an adequate regulative system next winter, and public sentiment will probably be strong enough to insure fair play and proper competition in this field.

French-American Feeling

Ambassador Herrick insists that he knows of no good reason why the plans of the American Legion to hold its convention in France next year should not be carried out. The same position is taken by Henry D. Lindsley, frist national commander of the Legion. Both maintain that reports in this country of widespread anti-American sentiment in France are not justified by facts, but bear evidence of mischievous propaganda.

"I had heard little or nothing of this agitation over here until my arrival," says Mr. Herrick, "and I was surprised at the extent to which this impression had been encouraged and carried throughout the country on so little foundation—so much so that I could not help but believe that there were those unfriendly to our two countries who were mysteriously promoting this scandal."

No doubt anti-American outbreaks in France have been exaggerated. There is a spirit of criticism abroad, and the French are obviously less friendly to Americans than they were; but it is hardly conceivable that a nation so famous for its courtesy would fail to show real hospitality to the American war veterans.

In fact, sending these veterans to France may be the best way of restoring friendly relations, because their presence will serve to remind the French nation of the perilous times when our boys and theirs fought side by side in a common cause.

It may help particularly if the movement now under way to make Gen. Pershing the next national commander succeeds. The French like and trust Pershing.

It might be supposed that when Atlantic City calls in Neptune to crown a beauty champion, the winner would be a mermaid; and that girl from Oklahoma doesn't swim the channel or anything.

'Spunky' Edwards' Wonderful Chemical Discovery— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up betimes and Frazier Hunt told of the ranch he acquired near that of the Prince of Wales in Canada, the proud plainsman. Then to walk a short way with Jack Lait, the pamphleteer, discussing this, that and the other.

Home and came Mrs. Willis Wood and Mrs. Nellie Hussey who recently visited my native town and were sailing at midnight and I had news of Jay Price and his brother Stuart, each of whom I am fond, and to my tailor, his street being all torn up, and a pox on the bunding zealots.

In the evening with my wife, Justine and Miss Tyler to a roof cafe and greeted Dudley Field Malone, the lawyer, and Joe Moore and Gene Crawley and their ladies and an irritating man kept twirling a red headed girl on the dance floor until some hissed, a mean thing to do. So to bed.

Two hotels have dispensed with their miniature aquariums. In one the fish disported in a lobby fountain and in the other in a huge glass tank. Despite vigilance of attendants, the captives would float to the top wide eyed and still. They expired because of the carelessness of passersby who flipped cigar and cigarette stubs into the water.

Careless smokers otherwise cause a heavy loss in hotels by burning holes in table linens, carpets and spotting up furniture.

One of the supper clubs to burgeon with the first frost will have glass tables, inside of which will swim gorgeous finned fish amid sprays of colored lights. The convert charge will provide amply for the upkeep of the fish.

Night clubs, by the way, are preparing to open on a grander scale than ever. Twenty-six new and elaborate bazaars are scheduled to make a bow to the jaded. Others are being refurbished and many of the cabarets are to draw talent from high priced vaudeville and revue headliners.

Raids and padlocking have not stunted the growth although this past summer many had to shut down for lack of patronage. Several newspapers are now devoting daily columns to their activities and the celebrities seen there. There is a story of a reporter visiting a night club and inquiring of the manager, "Any raids lately?" He was told "No," and taking a chair said, "All right, I'll wait."

The investment for a night club is not heavy and if it is successful profits are enormous. The custom of having a hostess who calls out name of people at tables appeals to that surging army of New Yorkers who like to be seen.

The latest to enter the field as a night club proprietor is young Roger Wolfe Kahn. Many clubs have discovered they do not have to violate the Volstead law to prosper. Most of the patrons bring their own and the prices for thin sandwiches and table water plus the couvert gouge—runs into what Broadway classes "important money."

There are ways to accomplish most anything here if you have the kudos. A slashing rain deluged Broadway. An elegantly dressed gentleman with equally elegant luggage came out of an office building. Taxis were rushing by filled. At the curb was a sightseeing bus half filled. "Twenty dollars if you get me to the Grand Central in seven minutes," he said to the driver—and he was thundered away.

The Business of Education—I.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 20.—The biggest business in the world, aside from the federal government, is not the United States Steel corporation with its vast resources nad dazzling earnings, nor the General Motors company which recently surpassed the steel mammoth in net profit for a given period. It is not Standard Oil with its treemndous ramifications. It is not the British rubber monopoly.

It is a business with billions of invested capital, with an annual expenditure of billions, with earnings that can not be computed, with more than a hundred million stockholders, and with a great army of some 28,000,000 workers, and yet it is a business that never sells a dollar's worth of its product, that never shows either gross or net profits, and that never pays a dividend in cash or in stock. It is a business that admittedly is not thoroughly organized, that is wasteful and inefficient in many respects, but it is a business that will never fail.

It is the business of education in the United States, nad it is not only the biggest, but the most important business in the world.

Its invested capital is in the land, buildings, and equipment devoted to educational purposes and its annual expenditure is the outlay required for maintenance, teachers, and management. Its stockholders include every man, woman, and child in the country. Its army of workers is made up of federal, state, municipal, county, and township officials, superintendents, principals, teachers, and pupils. Its product, which it can not sell, is the equipping of children and youths for life's strenuous battle. Its incalculable earnings, out of which it can pay no tangible dividends, are whatever of betterment the children and youths get from education.

Last year there were some 24,000,000 children enrolled in the public schools of the United States. This year, according to the United States bureau of Education, the enrollment in public and private elementary and secondary schools will probably reach 26,500,000, with another 1,000,000 in normals, colleges and universities, and possibly as many as 500,000 in correspondence schools.

Huge Property Investment.

The value of the public property used for school purposes is now in excess of four billions—it was $3,744,780,714 for the school year 1923-24. Last year the expenditure for public education approximated $2,000,000,000. Figures as to private and parochial minor schools, of which there are hundreds, are not available, but the otatls are obviously large. Universities, colleges and professional schools have property valued in the aggregate at more than a billion dollars, and endownments totaling almost an equal sum. In 1924 their receipts exclusive of private benefications for increase of endowment were more than $340,000,000. That same year they had more than 56,000 teachers, while the public school had almost 760,000.

The magnitude of the business of education is readily visualized from figures cited apd estimates noted. And considering the fact that there is no unified control or management it is small wonder that in some respects the business is conducted inefficiently and wastefully. Schools are directed by innumerable boards, superintendents, and other officials. Taxes are levied for school funds on anything but a business-like basis in many instances. Rarely are school needs carefully budgeted and appropriations made accordingly. School equipment is seldom utilized to the maximum of its possibilities. In efficiency is often found in the teaching forces because of faulty methods of training and selecting teachers. Politics not infrequently creeps into the administration of school affairs, in small towns and villages as well as in the larger cities

According to Kitchen, it seems that a very distinguished motion picture producer—a man who is looked upon as a leader of the industry—went to call on one of his actors, who was critically ill. In fact, it was because he was told that his former employee was dying that the producer visited the out-of-the-way tenement on the East Side whereee the actor was gasping out his life.

The great producer spent several minutes at the bedside of the dying man trying to cheer him up with the promise of a leading part in his next picture.

"Why, you'll be yourself in no time," he went on. "I'll have you out in California and I'll make a real star out of you yet."

The actor smiled a weak smile of protest. He did not have the strength to utter a syllable again the extravagant promises of his former employer.

The caller took his departure. Starting down the narrow stairs he bumped his head against the ceiling.

"Ouch!" he exclaimed. Then in a perfectly audible voice he added, "I wonder how in thunder they expect to get a coffin down these steps!"

City's First Dahlia Show

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and staged by a society of 35 amateur growers from Newell and Chester, W. Va., and Beaver, Pa., as well as the city proper, East Liverpool's first annual dahlia exhibition will be held on the second floor of the D. M. Ogilivie annex, Washington street, Thursday and Friday. The show will open to the public at 7 o'clock Thursday evening, and no admission will be charged.

Enthusiasm in the cultivation of the multi-colored flower has been manifested here since tests at Sewickley, Pa., have convinced lovers of the beautiful that the dahlia can be grown as successfully in the Ohio Valley as in Massachusetts and New Jersey. And the result is that the flower now adds to the attractiveness of front and back yards of homes whose owners have propagated it.

Hoping to stimulate even more interest in this worth-while movement, as well as to gain benefits that are inevitable in such an organization, without any thought of commercialism, dahlia growers in the district formed the East Liverpool society. And the only reward these amateur florists expect is an increase in the enrollment of flower lovers.

The first annual dahlia show should go a long way toward kindling the spark of civic pride, for it will acquaint the public with the ease with which the flower is grown. And consequently it should mean the beautifying of back yards and vacant lots which are now eye-sores.

Visit the dahlia exhibition Thursday and Friday.

Broader Broadcasting

The American Telephone and Telegraph company's big New York broadcasting station, WEAF, perhaps the best known station in the world, will be taken over by the Radio Corporation of America.

This seems to mean, first of all, that the A. T. and T. is going to stick to wires and confine its energies to ordinary telegraphy and telephony, leaving entertainment and news broadcasting to others.

It means, at the same time, that the Radio corporation is entering upon a career of expansion. It plans to take the relay broadcasting system developed by the A. T. and T. and broaden it to take in many more cities, making its New York programs available in every part of the country by combined use of wires and wireless. Programs, too, the officials say, will be broadened, to include important public events in every section of the country. The aim will be to build up what might be called a national radio service.

For all this the public will pay nothing—that is, directly. Expenses of broadcasting, which are very large, will be met as heretofore through advertising charges, paid by business firms which are satisfied to provide entertainment for the good will they get out of it. This is a natural development, and seems to work pretty well so far.

Any tendency to over-commercialism, making the advertising appeal offensive or tiresome, will doubtless be corrected by public disapproval.

The real danger of such a development, perhaps, is the growth of radio monopoly. But there seems no need of immediate worry about that. Congress is expected to provide an adequate regulative system next winter, and public sentiment will probably be strong enough to insure fair play and proper competition in this field.

French-American Feeling

Ambassador Herrick insists that he knows of no good reason why the plans of the American Legion to hold its convention in France next year should not be carried out. The same position is taken by Henry D. Lindsley, frist national commander of the Legion. Both maintain that reports in this country of widespread anti-American sentiment in France are not justified by facts, but bear evidence of mischievous propaganda.

"I had heard little or nothing of this agitation over here until my arrival," says Mr. Herrick, "and I was surprised at the extent to which this impression had been encouraged and carried throughout the country on so little foundation—so much so that I could not help but believe that there were those unfriendly to our two countries who were mysteriously promoting this scandal."

No doubt anti-American outbreaks in France have been exaggerated. There is a spirit of criticism abroad, and the French are obviously less friendly to Americans than they were; but it is hardly conceivable that a nation so famous for its courtesy would fail to show real hospitality to the American war veterans.

In fact, sending these veterans to France may be the best way of restoring friendly relations, because their presence will serve to remind the French nation of the perilous times when our boys and theirs fought side by side in a common cause.

It may help particularly if the movement now under way to make Gen. Pershing the next national commander succeeds. The French like and trust Pershing.

It might be supposed that when Atlantic City calls in Neptune to crown a beauty champion, the winner would be a mermaid; and that girl from Oklahoma doesn't swim the channel or anything.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up betimes and Frazier Hunt told of the ranch he acquired near that of the Prince of Wales in Canada, the proud plainsman. Then to walk a short way with Jack Lait, the pamphleteer, discussing this, that and the other.

Home and came Mrs. Willis Wood and Mrs. Nellie Hussey who recently visited my native town and were sailing at midnight and I had news of Jay Price and his brother Stuart, each of whom I am fond, and to my tailor, his street being all torn up, and a pox on the bunding zealots.

In the evening with my wife, Justine and Miss Tyler to a roof cafe and greeted Dudley Field Malone, the lawyer, and Joe Moore and Gene Crawley and their ladies and an irritating man kept twirling a red headed girl on the dance floor until some hissed, a mean thing to do. So to bed.

Two hote's have dispensed with their miniature aquariums. In one the fish disported in a lobby fountain and in the other in a huge glass tank. Despite vigilance of attendants, the captives would float to the top wide eyed and still. They expired because of the carelessness of passersby who flipped cigar and cigarette stubs into the water.

Careless smokers otherwise cause a heavy loss in hotels by burning holes in table linens, carpets and spotting up furniture.

One of the supper clubs to burgeon with the first frost will have glass tables, inside of which will swim gorgeous finned fish amid sprays of colored lights. The convert charge will provide amply for the upkeep of the fish.

Night clubs, by the way, are preparing to open on a grander scale than ever. Twenty-six new and elaborate bazaars are scheduled to make a bow to the jaded. Others are being refurbished and many of the cabarets are to draw talent from high priced vaudeville and revue headliners.

Raids and padlocking have not stunted the growth although this past summer many had to shut down for lack of patronage. Several newspapers are now devoting daily columns to their activities and the celebrities seen there. There is a story of a reporter visiting a night club and inquiring of the manager, "Any raids lately?" He was told "No," and taking a chair said, "All right, I'll wait."

The investment for a night club is not heavy and if it is successful profits are enormous. The custom of having a hostess who calls out name of people at tables appeals to that surging army of New Yorkers who like to be seen.

The latest to enter the field as a night club proprietor is young Roger Wolfe Kahn. Many clubs have discovered they do not have to violate the Volstead law to prosper. Most of the patrons bring their own and the prices for thin sandwiches and table water plus the couvert gouge—runs into what Broadway classes "important money."

There are ways to accomplish most anything here if you have the kudos. A slashing rain deluged Broadway. An elegantly dressed gentleman with equally elegant luggage came out of an office building. Taxis were rushing by filled. At the curb was a sightseeing bus half filled. "Twenty-dollars if you get me to the Grand Central in seven minutes," he said to the driver—and he was thundered away.

A meticulous gentleman was selecting dinner at the next table. "Are the vegetables fresh?" he blandly inquired of the waiter. I wonder just how he would have felt if the waiter had replied "Hello!"

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers From Indigestion or Stomach Trouble CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by chronic acid stomach," says a well known authority.

Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis accompanied by dangerous stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach with pepsin or artificial digestents that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines.

Instead, neutralise or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little hot water and Bisurated Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. There is nothing better than Bisurated Magnesia, to sweeten and settle an acid stomach. It soaks up the harmful excess acid much as a sponge or blotting paper might and your stomach acts and feels fine in just a few minutes. Bisurated Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use, is not a laxative and is not at all expensive.

Salesman For Skin Cream Learns How To Clear Up Pimply Complexion

Arthur Reich, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I was a salesman of creams for healing pimples, blemishes, etc., but when my face broke out with blotches, pimples, and blackheads I tried one salve after another with no permanent results.

"I found it as impossible to sell skin cream as a bald-headed man finds selling hair tonic. Finally I decided I would have to get at the cause—the blood. I was amazed to find that within a few days after taking Carter's Little Liver Pills, my skin took on a new healthful look, blemishes started to disappear and I felt like a new person all around. Now I know what to do when I have a pimply skin, you bet." This old reliable remedy treats such complaints in a safe way. It has been used all over the world for 67 years. For sale at all druggists.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers From Indigestion or Stomach Trouble CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by chronic acid stomach," says a well known authority.

Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis accompanied by dangerous stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach with pepsin or artificial digestents that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines.

Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little hot water and Bisurated Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. RALSTON RED MACK'S DANCER

Clever Stepper With Comedian's Company at Strand.

Frank Ralston.

Frank Ralston, clever dance with the Red Mack Players, now at the Strand theatre, is responsible for all the terpsichorean numbers that are seen during the action of the many plays that this popular organization is offering.

"Little Frankie," as he is known back stage, is constantly on the alert for new ideas for his pretty choristers, and makes many trips east for new ideas in dancing. He is also the designer of the beautiful wardrobe that the choristers wear.

Nightly after the show, Ralston and his girls are debating new ideas in dance ensemble, and figuring out new creations in wardrobe to please the eye of the Strand patrons. Two and three a. m. finds them plodding merrily home, tired but happy, as they have accomplished their purpose in putting together all new steps for the new play that is to come.

This is somewhat of a job as the Mack Players offer two plays every week.

"Big Parade" Seat Sale at Ceramic Opens Tomorrow

Seats go on sale tomorrow for "The Big Parade" which comes to the Ceramic for three days beginning Thursday night, with matinees Friday and Saturday. This Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production is now in its second year at the Astor theatre, New York and has had record runs in all the larger cities. Many playgoers here have already brought word of its fine quality and have eagerly advised friends to be sure and see it.

When the road company comes here to present "The Big Parade" it will have its own touring orchestra and the New York presentation. Thus those who visit the Ceramic theatre are assured that they will see "The Big Parade" to the same advantage that it is displayed in the large cities. King Vidor has created a stirring and thrilling picture from the Laurence Stalling's story, but the fact remains that it is the inherent love and laughter of the yarn which has made for its great success.

You can blame the modern girl all you please, but you never see her on the street with her face bare.—Zanesville Signal.

SIXTY-NINE philosophers from 18 countries will gather at Harvard. A philosopher "loves wisdom," trying to understand what cannot be understood.

From Thales to Suinoza, it is the same story, "We know the questions, but not the answers." The best effort was made by Locke, in his "Essay on the Human Understanding," seeking to establish the limits of human inteligence.

Benedetto Croce, famous Italian philosopher and atheist, life member in the Italian senate, was brought up religiously. He became an atheist when an earthquake killed his father and mother, his only sister, and almost killed him. Had his family been spared he would have said, "That's a miracle," and might at this moment be more religious than ever.

Red Cross to "Stand By"

army officials this morning on relief measures, and a presidential proclamation may be issued calling on the nation to lend a hand to the stricken communities of Florida.

A message from V. J. Sherman, General chairman of the relief committee at Hollywood, Fla., said:

"Help urgently needed in Hollywood due to devastating hurricane. Ten thousand homeless, 100 killed, 1,000 injured. This only preliminary estimate. Most urgent necessities are tents, cots, bedding, food, medical supplies, lightweight clothing, doctors, nurses. We will eventually need permanent reconstruction. Immediate action necessary."

Several officials of the National Red Cross left the capital hurriedly last night for Florida to make personal surveys of the damage done and the extent of relief necessary.

W. F. Busch, general passenger agent of the Florida East Coast railroad, in another message estimated that 38,000 people are homeless and more than 700 killed in Miami and nearby towns.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Special trains were organized here today to speed relief to the suffering thousands in the Florida hurricane disaster.

The first unit, with doctors and nurses aboard, left over the Illinois Central this morning. Other trains, bearing food supplies, tents and hospital equipment will leave during the day.

Dr. Herman R. Bundesen, Chicago health commissioner, headed the staff of doctors who left this morning.

Contributions to the relief fund were pouring in from all sections of the middlewest today, following a radio appeal issued by Mayor Dever and Gov. Len Small.

50,000 Homeless

Almost 50,000 persons are homeless or living in temporary shelter in southern Florida, according to checks by railroad officials who have been throwing all their resources into the gigantic task of restoring transportation facilities. For the first time since the storm struck, a through train from Miami arrived here last night, bringing all those who could crowd aboard with gripping stories of the desolation left by the storm.

Militiamen Shoot Looters.

The Miami train passed two long sections of a Jacksonville train bearing food, medical supplies and relief workers. Three hundred state militiamen hastily ordered to mobilize by Governor John W. Martin, a hundred Red Cross nurses and doctors and sanitation experts from the state board of health on the train were the vanguard of northern Florida's relief measures.

Piles of dead in Miami hotels being used as temporary morgues, large broken ships resting in streets five blocks from the water front where they had been blown by the storm, virtual destruction of residential districts for blocks and militia shooting down looters of debris, were some of the pictures brought back by the survivors last night.

The huge resort hotels where the social celebrities of the nation gather in winter are in many cases damaged beyond repair, passengers from the train declared. Practically every window in the Breakers, Biltmore and other large hostelries has been broken by the storm, and many of the smaller hotels are in danger of collapse.

Martial Law Ordered.

Stories of families seeing their homes demolished or their loved ones killed were heard today. A Miami beach police man, on his way back to his home at Philadelphia said he saw 200 bodies in the McAllister hotel lobby and cellar at Miami.

Sheriff Henry Chase of Dade county in a radio message picked up by amateur wireless operators here asked 600 coffins be sent to Miami.

The tropical radio station at Miami which afforded the main communication with the outside world after the July 27 hurricane, was almost demolished by the storm, and succeeded in broadcasting weak appeals for aid early yesterday only after heroic work had been done to contruct a makeshift radio tower.

The local chamber of commerce meeting last night organized preliminary relief measures with all large civic organizations and business houses volunteering the limit in resource to help storm victims.

Governor John W. Martin passed through here early this morning en route from Tallahassee to southern Florida where he will personally direct a large part of the relief work. The governor has ordered martial law at Hollywood, Fort Lauderdale, Pampano and Dania and several other smaller cities. Troops are now patrolling the Palm beaches and Miami.

SIXTY-NINE philosophers from 18 countries will gather at Harvard. A philosopher "loves wisdom," trying to understand what cannot be understood.

From Thales to Suinoza, it is the same story, "We know the questions, but not the answers." The best effort was made by Locke, in his "Essay on the Human Understanding," seeking to establish the limits of human inteligence.

Benedetto Croce, famous Italian philosopher and atheist, life member in the Italian senate, was brought up religiously. He became an atheist when an earthquake killed his father and mother, his only sister, and almost killed him. Had his family been spared he would have said, "That's a miracle," and might at this moment be more religious than ever.

SALE OF GROUND SOUGHT IN SUITS

Sale of a farm of 122.13 acres in section 10 in Hanover township is asked in a petition filed in common pleas court by Attorney K. L. Cobourn, of Salem, in behalf of Mary M. Callen and against John J. Batzli, against whom judgment for $1,400 and $97.88 costs was returned in common pleas court March 20th last.

The petition sets up that Harry W. Loudon and the First National bank of Salem have an interest in the property, and the petition asks that these interests come into court and establish their claims, and that the court order the sale of the premises to satisfy the judgment already rendered.

The court has been asked to order the sale of three lots owned by Abe Griffiths and Nellie Griffiths in the Belmar plan of lots at East Liverpool to satisfy a judgment for $198.29 obtained against them by the Windland Bros. Lumber Co. of East Liverpool in the court of Justice P. V. Mackall at East Liverpool Feb. 23, 1925.

Court Entry Changed.

The entry made in common pleas court confirming the sale of property in the case of the Union Banking company against Eric P. Allenburg and others has been stricken out by Judge Spence on a motion filed in this case, and the action now stands with the order of sale. The case was filed Feb. 15th last and sought money and foreclosure of mortgage.

Seek Citizenship.

Wilhelm Tunnat, aged 35 years, a native of Germany, and employed as a glass cutter and residing at 242 Prospect street, Salem, has filed his declaration of intent to become a citizen of the United States. He arrived at New York April 17 last.

A similar declaration has been made by George Reid, aged 35 years, residing at 170 Garfield avenue, East Palestine. Reid is a native of Scotland and is employed as a kiln fireman. He arrived at Boston, Mass., Nov. 12, 1922.

Exceptions Taken.

Exceptions have been taken by counsel for the American Mutual Insurance company to the overruling of its motion filed in common pleas court in the matter now pending against it, the petition being filed by Tony Cascio. In this action Cascio sued the company to recover $2,615.55 claimed due him as a fire loss on his property and covered by a policy held in the defendant company.

Suit Instituted.

Through his counsel, W. S. Potts, S. L. Andrews has filed a petition in common pleas court against James Hanley, claiming $450 due on a note for $600 given the plaintiff by the defendant. Interest from May 12, 1925, is asked.

Marriage Licenses.

L. H. Orebaugh, of Cleveland, employed as a salesman, and Miss Esther Hunt, a clerk, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Hunt, of Salem, have been granted a marriage license by Judge Lodge Riddle. The couple returned to Salem, where they were married by the Rev. Collier of the Salem Methodist Episcopal church.

Bombay now claims the largest raw-cotton depot of the world, the new plant covering 127 acres.

Canada expects a boom in interest in radio.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed.

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel wall are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutin won't do it.

G. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at C. G. Anderson, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

SALE OF GROUND SOUGHT IN SUITS

Sale of a farm of 122.13 acres in section 10 in Hanover township is asked in a petition filed in common pleas court by Attorney K. L. Cobourn, of Salem, in behalf of Mary M. Callen and against John J. Batzli, against whom judgment for $1,400 and $97.88 costs was returned in common pleas court March 20th last.

The petition sets up that Harry W. Loudon and the First National bank of Salem have an interest in the property, and the petition asks that these interests come into court and establish their claims, and that the court order the sale of the premises to satisfy the judgment already rendered.

The court has been asked to order the sale of three lots owned by Abe Griffiths and Nellie Griffiths in the Belmar plan of lots at East Liverpool to satisfy a judgment for $198.29 obtained against them by the Windland Bros. Lumber Co. of East Liverpool in the court of Justice P. V. Mackall at East Liverpool Feb. 23, 1925.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed.

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel wall are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutin won't do it.

G. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at C. G. Anderson, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

Riley's Men Win Fourth Game, 12-5, In Tenth-Inning Rally

Crash Out Six Hits In Extra Frame and Break 5-5 Deadlock

Mike Pitches First Series Contest and Allows Laughlin Six Safeties; Ashe Holds Rivals Level Until Grand Finale When Bombardment of Base Hits Drives Him to Bench.

Two days have dawned, as the movie sub-titles would say it, since the perennial City Industrial League flag rivals clashed in a climacteric ten-inning contest at Newell Saturday, but the spectacle of a desperate band of fighting ball hands, battling to keep intact the slim thread of chance upon which hung fading pennant hopes, suddenly unleashed a barrage of crashing base hits that sank the good ship Ashe and brought about a surprising 12 to 5 conquest for Chester remains today with followers of the victors and vanquished alike.

To Chester fans, victory starved, it was nectar and ambrosia; to Newell it was the bitter dregs; sending the hopes of Rileys cohorts skyrocketing to the heights; imbuing the phalanxes of McCoy with a deep-stilled determination to come back and get 'em in the fifth and final.

Mike Cebula, like the cat, came back—a black cat, at that, for it was no lucky day for Laughlin.

Pitching his first game in almost two weeks during which he nursed a sprained wrist, the 'big train" of the Chesterites curved 'em and smoked 'em down the alley for 10 tortuous innings, working carefully, never faltering in the face of five-thumbed performances on the part of his defense at several critical junctures, until "Parse," Newell's good, old reliable "Parse," swung and mised the final sizzler and the day was over.

And it was Mike, who, when his team was trailing, 5 to 4, in the eighth inning and even "Connie Mack' Riley's head and spirits were drooping like a wilted rose, stepped to the plate, with two down and Heckathorne on second by virture of a two-bagger, and burned a single down the third base line to make possible the tenth inning in which Chester not only broke the deadlock but crashed it all over the lot to the tune of six hits and seven runs.

And Ashe?

Yes, Ashe was a hero in defeat. No Industrial league pitcher ever put up a gamer battle than the elongated one, who fanned no less than 12 Chester batters and held the visiting hordes to six safe drives until that tenth inning. And then McCoy had to drag him out as he stood up there and gave them everything he had. Ashe allowed three walks, only one of which produced a run but he, too, carried on against odds, passed balls and erratic infield heaving aiding the enemy run makers on several occasions.

And to "Pus" Herbert, third sacker, goes considerable credit for Laughlin's comeback in the fourth when they tied the score at 2 to 2, and their spurt in the sixth when two more Laughlin runs crossed the plate to give the down river aggregation a one-tally lead.

Chester stepped out to a two-run lead in the fourth and Herbert's single to right brought in the run that knotted the count after Crawford had scored on a single, a stolen base and a passed ball.

Newell annexed another run in the fifth when Babb, who reached first on Pete Cebula's error, scampered home on Bubin's two base blow.

Crawford-Herbert Collaborate.

Crawford singled again in the fifth and Herbert drove him home with a two-bagger, to tie the count, scoring himself on a two-station wallop by Sayres.

There is no question as to hitting honors for the day. These laurels bedeck the brow of First Baseman Heckathorne, of Chester, who, in six trips to the plate, doubled twice, singled twice, sacrificed once and then wound up his afternoon's stick work by striking out. "Heck's" bat was a potent piece of timber for the victors.

Third Baseman Green ogled two walks out of Ashe and collected two hits in six times up.

Bubin's work in left field was a formidable factor in the Laughlin defense tactics. The big boy, who also contributed a timely clout, captured two hard chances.

Wilde, who coaches Chester high school footballers between "baby world's series" games and who has covered everything on the Chester club but the hole in the toe of Pilot Riley's stock, was stationed for the day at second and took five chances out of six that came burning down his way. He plays any of the infield jobs, occasionally in the outgarden and may pitch in the next series tilt.

Roland "green cap" Crawford, Newell center fielder, was a b'g gun in the Laughlin attack and played a generally valuable brand of ball for the losers.

The contest gave every indication of producing a long winded pitchers' battle until Chester broke into the scoring column in the fourth. Four Chester batters faced Ashe in the first inning, Green alone getting on as a result of a walk. Heckathorne sacrificed him, but Wilde popped out to Finley and P. Cebula went out, Finley to Babb.

In the second and third innings, Chester, as well as Newell, was retired in one-two three order.

Scoring in Fourth.

The ice was cracked in the fourth. Heckathorne, first up, hit to deep center for two bases. Crawford made a brilliant effort to snare the ball, but fell short. Heckathorne then advanced to second when Hunselman let one get past him. Wilde went out, Sayres to Babb, and Heckathorne scored on Pete Cebula's single down the left field line. Ashe tried to catch Pete off first base and threw one too low. Cebula taking second. Mike fouled four times and fanned. Pete Cebula went to third as Hunselman dropped one of Ashe's offerings. George Cebula drew a pass and stole second. On Hunselman's short peg, Pete reached home, plunging into Hunselman at the plate. Marshall fanned.

Newell Swatters had something up their sleeves beside their elbows for his particular inning, too. Finley opened the inning by flying out to C. Cebula in right. Crawford slammed one through second for a single and stole second. Parsons reached first as Pete Cebula juggled his ground ball at short, Crawford going to third. Crawford came in with Laughlin's first run when one of Mike's fast ones got by Catcher McMath, Parsons going to second.

Herbert came through with a timely single to right, scoring Parsons, but was out at second as he tried to stretch the hit on the throw-in to the plate, McMath to Wilde. Sayers went out, Wilde to Heckathorne.

Their two-run lead shot to pieces, Chester went to work to put a couple more on. Stoffel, in the fifth, reached first on Herbert's low throw to Babb. McMath laid down a bunt and was safe as Herbert pulled Babb off the bag,—Stoffell going to third. Greene singled to right, scoring Stoffell, McMath going to third and Greene went out at second trying to make it a two-bagger.

Lead Cut by Newell.

Heckathorne bounced one through short, scoring McMath. The ball took a bad hop as Finley came in after it had bounded over the diminutive shortstop's head. Wilde and Pete Cebula fanned.

Chester's two run margin was reduced by one when Newell scored one in the last of the fifth.

Babb went to second as Pete Cebula, after fielding cleanly a hard hit ground ball, threw six feet over Heckathorne's head at first. Bubin then picked out a fast one and crashed it down the right field line into the crowd, scoring Babb and being held up at second, ground rules permitting only two-bags on the blow. Hunselman fanned. Ashe sacrificed, Wilde to Heckathorne and Finley went out, Wilde to Heckathorne.

Laughlin stock went sky high in the sixth when a game, uphill battle put the Newell aggregation into the lead for the first time during the tussle as two runners scampered over the plate.

Crawford, who had started things for Newell in the fourth, reached first safely as Marshall, in left, and Stoffel, in middle, pulled an Alfonso-Gaston act and permitted the Newell outgardner's easy fly to drop between them.

Mike, who apparently didn't mind the genuine base hits that went by him, was annoyed temporarily and the game was delayed as Riley sent Paul Bennett to left in Marshall's place. Parsons sacrificed, Mike to Heckathorne. Crawford scored on Herbert's two base hit to center, and Herbert counted as Sayres punched out a two-baser down the left field line. Babb bunted. Mike grabbed the ball and, aided by Pete, killed off Sayers mid way between secand and third. Bubin popped to Pete.

In the seventh, Chester batters went out in order and Chester hopes began to sag. Ashe was going good and that one-run lead looked like a mountain to the visiting ball club. McCoy had his lads on their toes, in there battling to keep that narrow margin. Some of the less hopeful Chester followers had begun to pick out the nearest exits.

Heck and Mike Tie It Up.

But Heckathorne, hitting at the moment at a 1.000 clip, stepped to the plate and laced out a two-bagger to right field and Chester pulse beats came back to normal again. Then Wilde popped up to Herbert and Pete Cebula lined one out to Crawford in center.

"I can't be beaten like this," muttered Mike as he selected a piece of timber and strode to the plate. "Not if I can help it," he grunted as the horsehide, propelled by a hefty wallop, skinned over the grasstops along the left field line and Heckathorne came tearing in from second base to tie the score at 5-5. But brother George fanned and Mike was left stranded.

Parsons, Herbert and Sayres were retired in order in the last of the eighth.

Ashe bore down in the ninth, fanning Marshall and Stoffel. Potts went out, Sayres to Babb.

Mike also had sometning on the ball as he whiffed Bubin and Hunselman in the second section of the ninth, and Babb grounded out, Pete Cebula to Heckathorne.

The game went into the tenth inning and then it happened.

With cataclysmic suddenness, Chester bats broke out in a rash of base hits and pounded in seven runs as the power with which Ashe had kept them subdued for nine long innings, lost its grip and fell away.

Ashe Shelled From Mound.

Green, first up, walked. Heckathorne beat out an infield rap to Herbert. Wilde laid down a bunt that stopped three feet in front of the plate and beat out the throw, filling the sacks. Chester fans broke into a frenzy as Pete Cebula, erstwhile Mid-Atlantic performer, met the apple on the trademark and sent it to the left field limits, scoring Greene and Heckathorne, being held up at second and Wilde at third under existing ground rules. Mike fanned. C. Cebula flied to Bubin, Wilde scoring.

Bennett drove one at Ashe. The pitcher was slow in getting it away and flung hurriedly to Babb, the ball bouncing off Bennett's back at first base, P. Cebula counting. Marshall reached first on Ashe's throw to Babb, scoring Bennett. Stoffell singled to right. Potts singled into short left field, Stoffel holding up at third.

Ashe was beckoned to the bench at this juncture and Briggle went to the mound. Potts, the huge Chester catcher, ambled to the keystone sack for a stolen base. Greene slapped one out for two bases and Stoffell and Potts finished the circuit. Heckathorne fanned.

Digman went in as a pinch hitter for Briggle in the last of the twenth and reached first as Heckathorne juggled his grounder. Finley popped to Wilde. Crawford hit an easy fly to Greene and Parsons fanned.

"THERE WON'T BE A SECOND BELL"--JACK

HIGH GRIDDERS OPEN SATURDAY

Clash With Sebring Here; Lineup Still a Question.

An air of seriousness permeates the Blue and White football camp today. Bill Cox's husky linemen are hunched a little lower, plunging a little harder; McCutcheon's backfielders are hitting a little harder, sprinting the ends a little faster, and Coach George Kidder is driving the whole combination with a sterner hand—The first game of the season is just six days away.

The Blue and White crew is anxious to open with a victory and they intend that Sebring shall be the first victim. The Mahoning countians fell before the locals just a year ago and will tumble again unless all signs fail.

Coach Kidder has selected no definite lineup as the team goes down the last training stretch before actual warfare opens, but possibly he has a combination figured out as a starter. The willingness and ability of a crew of burly linemen will make it difficult to pick seven outstanding performers from among Ends English, Cordwin, Deems and McKee; Tackles Smith, Clark, Anderson and Carney; Guards Swaney, Kinsey, Irwin, Todd, Gefeller and Allison; and backfielders Davis, McConville, Bromby, Kirkham, Fullerton, Lincoln and Van Dyne.

There is only one job that can be selected at present without fear of contradiction. There is hardly any question about Dick Larkins starting at center. Outside of that it's more or less of a guess at the present stage of affairs.

Practice sessions will continue at City Park this week, portions of Patterson Field still being under water.

Dempsey is Guarded As Big Fight Nears

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Taking precaution against bodily harm—possibly by gunmen—Jack Dempsey has ordered six picked men from a local detective agency rushed to his training camp at Atlantic City, it was reported here today.

At present Dempsey is guarded by four of the "hardest" detectives in the country. Two of these are Sergeant Johnny Broderick and "Happy Jack" Smith, members of New York's famous 'strong arm" squad.

Cards-Reds Face Showdown Sunday On Redlegs' Field

NEW YORK, Sept. 20—Maybe the Yankees are "in" at least: Maybe an American league pennant that was as good as won in mid-August can be clinched in late September, now that this inspiring New York outfit enjoys a 3½ game lead with only eight games to play. But the greatest race in the history of the National league probably will send the Cardinals and Reds right on down to the wire, running jowl to jowl, with the ultimate show—down coming in Cincinnati next Sunday when the two contenders must face each other for the last time.

The writer happens to like the Cardinals, in spite of the fact that they must travel the rougher road to the pennant. They have five games more to play and two of them are with the Giants, who, yesterday brought the Cards back to their field by pulling out a 6 to 5 decision over Mr. Hornsby's favorite ball club.

Previously, the Giants had aided in the obsequies that marked the passing of the Pittsburgh Pirates and only the day before they beat the Reds at a most critical moment in the race, so the New York club can't be overlooked as a serious hurdle for the Cardinals in the last week of the race. The Reds, meantime, will be feasting on the tailenders, the Phils and Braves, and before the end of the current week, the Cards' one-game lead may have evaporated into thin air, or, at least, it may be no greater than it is today.

I favor the Cards for three reasons, one of which is the single game lead afore mentioned. This places the burden of proof right on the Reds, as any handicap must. But I like the Cards, also, because they are the better ball club and because they seem to have that unconscious something that one must associate with a pennant winner. The Cardinals look the part.

Of course, if the race must narrow down to a single game, pitching will play too great a part at that juncture to offer a medium for logical forecast. For one day at least, it is possible for the worst club in the world to beat the best and it may be that Cincinnati, playing before a friendly home crowd, will beat St. Louis next Sunday, although neither club comes under the above designations. They are just good ball clubs, of which one seems to have an almost undefinable edge on the other. In short, I think the Cardinals will win the pennant, regardless of what may develop during the final week.

As for the American league, the situation there has taken on that post-mortem air in which the word "if" becomes of paramount moment. By finally beating the Indians yesterday, the Yankees reached the "if" stage. Therefore, let it be known that if the Indians win all of their remaining seven games, the Yankees can finish in a tie by winning four of their remaining eight. In other words another defeat or two for Cleveland will just about finish them, even if the Yankees continue to look as bad as they really happen to be. They seem destined to win a pennant in spite of themselves.

SPRINGER HIGH IN RIFLE SHOOT

With 174 out of a possible 200 at four positions John Springer had high score at the local rifle club's shoot Friday night. George Douglass finished second with 172.

Other scores were: W. A. Rymer, 169; G. Menough, 124; E. Culler, 155; H. Stewart, 150; O. Spear, 143.

Springer registered a perfect score on single target with a mark of 50, prone position.

For the second day in succession Ty Cobb broke up a game with a pinch hit. His wallop in the ninth gave the Tigers an 8 to 7 victory over Washington.

FINAL BATTLE ON WEDNESDAY

Deciding City League Tilt to be Played at Chester.

The fifth and deciding game of the "baby world's series" of the City Industrial League will be played next Wednesday afternoon at Smith Field, Chester.

The contest will begin promptly at 4 o'clock and will go nine innings.

Decision for these arrangements was made in a conference between Managers Saul McCoy, of Laughlin, and Frank Riley of Chester, late Saturday evening.

"Tails," chosen by Pilot Riley, turned up in the toss-up by President C. C. Cline, league president, Boss McCoy having selected "heads."

With a 4 o'clock start it is figured that a full nine-frame engagement can be completed before darkness.

Wednesday was chosen as the time for the game by reason of the fact that business houses of both the West Virginia towns use it as a half-holiday.

Both clubs, too, will have a helpful interim of rest following the extra inning combat of Saturday.

Both team leaders are optimistic of the outcome of the forthcoming crucial game.

"We are going to win now, sure," affirmed Riley to McCoy during the negotiations. "I have three pitchers now: Mike, Wilde and Stoffell, even though P. Bennett does go back to Wabash college. After fighting under such difficulties as have been ours I feel the spirit of the Chester club has reached a point that will carry them through to a victory."

But Sol McCoy won't stand for such optimism on the part of the up-river delegation. "Laughlin always has and always will come through," he rejoined. "You will get a taste of Digman, and he will be more fit by the time of this game. The breaks went against us in one inning Saturday, but the club played fine ball, at that. We are ging in to win and don't make the mistake that we are not."

The Yankees came to life and pounded out an 8 to 3 victory over Cleveland, stretching their lead to three and one-half games. Gehrig clouted three doubles and a home run and Ruth got his forty-third homer of the season.

'I'm Going To Lay Out Gene In First Round'

Champion, Reassuring Normile Following Filing of Suit by Kearns, Says He'll Show 'em How Little He Ever Did Need Former Manager; Asserts He's in Shape.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 20.—"Never mind getting upset, Gene, there'll never be a second bell in this fight with Tunney."

The speaker was Jack Dempsey and the remark was made Saturday night at a pow-wow, the details of which have just come to light today.

When Dempsey learned that Kearns had started some legal proceedings against him here on Saturday, he went to Gene Normille, his manager. Normille was angered and launched a bitter tirade against Kearns.

"Kearns has done everything that a human can do to try to get you upset and get your mind so worried about this legal suff that you might not be able to keep it on the fight," Normille said.

Dempsey's answer came with unfailing smile.

"Sure, that's what Kearns is really aiming to do," he replied. "He wants me to lose because he figures if I blow the title in this fight he then can tell the folks that he was the boy who kept me a champion. He doesn't want me to win because it would show how little I ever did need him."

Dempsey put a hand on Normille's shoulder and with the smile gone from his face, said:

Will End It Quickly.

"Just to prove to you and to prove to the world how little this thing is upsetting me, I'll make you the promise that for this fight there'll never be the need of a second bell. In some of the fights in my career I've worked to hammer a man down gradually and win without too much effort. Outside the Firpo fight and the Willard fight, I never let go with punches that carried everything I had in them. But this fight—well, this will be different. When the bell rings I am going out after Tunney and if he is up on his feet when the first round is over, then I'll be more surprised than I ever have been in my life."

Dempsey seems unconcerned about the suit which Kearns filed and which resulted in Dempsey being declared a temporary bankrupt and barred from leaving the state. Kearns demanded an accounting of all the money Dempsey received during the life time of their three-year contract from Aug. 3, 1923, until Aug. 3, 1926. To insure appearance in court Tuesday Dempsey was required to post a $100,000 bond.

The champion's last public workout was to be staged here this afternoon. The main part of the program called for shadow boxing and bag punching.

INSIDE Ggolf

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 81 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Withdrawing the clubhead from the ball with a right hand pull is a common yet instinctive fault among many players. This occurs because the right side and especially the right arm are stronger. They act by instinct. Golf is pretty much a left-hand affair throughout the swing. If this right hand pull against the clubhead isn't introduced at the start of the back swing it often takes place just as the clubhead is started upward. This causes the clubhead to race to the top and also it throws it out of its correct plane. If the player will form the habit of tucking his right elbow in somewhat toward his side he may cure the habit. Also gripping a little tighter with the left hand in the address will center attention on the idea of taking the club back with the left arm and left side.

The Browns nosed out the Athletics in the tenth, 5 to 4. Rice had a perfect day at bat with four hits.

Made Differently

If judged only by comparison of tobaccos, Lucky Strikes would be the best on the market.

They contain the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and perfectly blended.

But beyond that is an extra process—toasting—which gives them real distinction, making them indeed superior.

In smoking Lucky Strikes, you will find:

1. Finer Flavor. Toasting for 45 minutes develops the hidden flavors of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos.
2. Smoothness. Toasting for 45 minutes removes all "bite" and harshness, hence never any throat irritation.
3. Freshness. Then the tobacco is suddenly chilled. This seals the flavor in and insures constant freshness.

To attain these unique results, extra money is spent to give you added pleasure. This added effort brings extra goodness which accounts for the growing popularity of Luckies.

"It's toasted"

That's Why Luckies Taste So Good

Riley's Men Win Fourth Game, 12-5, In Tenth-Inning Rally

Crash Out Six Hits In Extra Frame and Break 5-5 Deadlock

Mike Pitches First Series Contest and Allows Laughlin Six Safeties; Ashe Holds Rivals Level Until Grand Finale When Bombardment of Base Hits Drives Him to Bench.

Two days have dawned, as the movie sub-titles would say it, since the perennial City Industrial League flag rivals clashed in a climacteric ten-inning contest at Newell Saturday, but the spectacle of a desperate band of fighting ball hands, battling to keep intact the slim thread of chance upon which hung fading pennant hopes, suddenly unleashed a barrage of crashing base hits that sank the good ship Ashe and brought about a surprising 12 to 5 conquest for Chester remains today with followers of the victors and vanquished alike.

To Chester fans, victory starved, it was nectar and ambrosia; to Newell it was the bitter dregs; sending the hopes of Rileys cohorts skyrocketing to the heights; imbuing the phalanxes of McCoy with a deep-stilled determination to come back and get 'em in the fifth and final.

Mike Cebula, like the cat, came back—a black cat, at that, for it was no lucky day for Laughlin.

Pitching his first game in almost two weeks during which he nursed a sprained wrist, the 'big train" of the Chesterites curled 'em and smoked 'em down the alley for 10 tortuous innings, working carefully, never faltering in the face of five-thumbed performances on the part of his defense at several critical junctures, until "Parse," Newell's good, old reliable "Parse," swung and mised the final sizzler and the day was over.

And it was Mike, who, when his team was trailing, 5 to 4, in the eighth inning and even "Connie Mack' Riley's head and spirits were drooping like a wilted rose, stepped to the plate, with two down and Heckathorne on second by virture of a two-bagger, and burned a single down the third base line to make possible the tenth inning in which Chester not only broke the deadlock but crashed it all over the lot to the tune of six hits and seven runs.

And Ashe?

Yes, Ashe was a hero in defeat. No Industrial league pitcher ever put up a gamer battle than the elongated one, who fanned no less than 12 Chester batters and held the visiting hordes to six safe drives until that tenth inning. And then McCoy had to drag him out as he stood up there and gave them everything he had. Ashe allowed three walks, only one of which produced a run but he, too, carried on against odds, passed balls and erratic infield heaving aiding the enemy run makers on several occasions.

And to "Pus" Herbert, third sacker, goes considerable credit for Laughlin's comeback in the fourth when they tied the score at 2 to 2, and their spurt in the sixth when two more Laughlin runs crossed the plate to give the down river aggregation a one-tally lead.

Chester stepped out to a two-run lead in the fourth and Herbert's single to right brought in the run that knotted the count after Crawford had scored on a single, a stolen base and a passed ball.

Newell annexed another run in the fifth when Babb, who reached first on Pete Cebula's error, scampered home on Bubin's two base blow.

Crawford-Herbert Collaborate.

Crawford singled again in the fifth and Herbert drove him home with a two-bagger, to tie the count, scoring himself on a two-station wallop by Sayres.

There is no question as to hitting honors for the day. These laurels bedeck the brow of First Baseman Heckathorne, of Chester, who, in six trips to the plate, doubled twice, singled twice, sacrificed once and then wound up his afternoon's stick work by striking out. "Heck's" bat was a potent piece of timber for the victors.

Third Baseman Green ogled two walks out of Ashe and collected two hits in six times up.

Bubin's work in left field was a formidable factor in the Laughlin defense tactics. The big boy, who also contributed a timely clout, captured two hard chances.

Wilde, who coaches Chester high school footballers between "baby world's series" games and who has covered everything on the Chester club but the hole in the toe of Pilot Riley's stock, was stationed for the day at second and took five chances out of six that came burning down his way. He plays any of the infield jobs, occasionally in the outgarden and may pitch in the next series tilt.

Roland "green cap" Crawford, Newell center fielder, was a big gun in the Laughlin attack and played a generally valuable brand of ball for the losers.

The contest gave every indication of producing a long winded pitchers' battle until Chester broke into the scoring column in the fourth. Four Chester batters faced Ashe in the first inning, Green alone getting on as a result of a walk. Heckathorne sacrificed him, but Wilde popped out to Finley and P. Cebula went out, Finley to Babb.

In the second and third innings, Chester, as well as Newell, was retired in one-two three order.

Scoring in Fourth.

The ice was cracked in the fourth. Heckathorne, first up, hit to deep center for two bases. Crawford made a brilliant effort to snare the ball, but fell short. Heckathorne then advanced to second when Hunselman let one get past him. Wilde went out, Sayres to Babb, and Heckathorne scored on Pete Cebula's single down the left field line. Ashe tried to catch Pete off first base and threw one too low, Cebula taking second. Mike fouled four times and fanned. Pete Cebula went to third as Hunselman dropped one of Ashe's offerings. George Cebula drew a pass and stole second. On Hunselman's short peg, Pete reached home, plunging into Hunselman at the plate. Marshall fanned.

Newell Swatters had something up their sleeves beside their elbows for his particular inning, too. Finley opened the inning by flying out to C. Cebula in right. Crawford slammed one through second for a single and stole second. Parsons reached first as Pete Cebula juggled his ground ball at short, Crawford going to third. Crawford came in with Laughlin's first run when one of Mike's fast ones got by Catcher McMath, Parsons going to second.

Herbert came through with a timely single to right, scoring Parsons, but was out at second as he tried to stretch the hit on the throw-in to the plate, McMath to Wilde. Sayers went out, Wilde to Heckathorne.

Their two-run lead shot to pieces, Chester went to work to put a couple more on. Stoffel, in the fifth, reached first on Herbert's low throw to Babb. McMath laid down a bunt and was safe as Herbert pulled Babb off the bag,—Stoffell going to third. Greene singled to right, scoring Stoffell, McMath going to third and Greene went out at second trying to make it a two-bagger.

Lead Cut by Newell.

Heckathorne bounced one through short, scoring McMath. The ball took a bad hop as Finley came in after it had bounded over the diminutive shortstop's head. Wilde and Pete Cebula fanned.

Chester's two run margin was reduced by one when Newell scored one in the last of the fifth.

Babb went to second as Pete Cebula, after fielding cleanly a hard hit ground ball, threw six feet over Heckathorne's head at first. Bubin then picked out a fast one and crashed it down the right field line into the crowd, scoring Babb and being held up at second, ground rules permitting only two-bags on the blow. Hunselman fanned. Ashe sacrificed, Wilde to Heckathorne and Finley went out, Wilde to Heckathorne.

Laughlin stock went sky high in the sixth when a game, uphill battle put the Newell aggregation into the lead for the first time during the tussle as two runners scampered over the plate.

Crawford, who had started things for Newell in the fourth, reached first safely as Marshall, in left, and Stoffel, in middle, pulled an Alfonso-Gaston act and permitted the Newell outgardner's easy fly to drop between them.

Mike, who apparently didn't mind the genuine base hits that went by him, was annoyed temporarily and the game was delayed as Riley sent Paul Bennett to left in Marshall's place. Parsons sacrificed, Mike to Heckathorne. Crawford scored on Herbert's two base hit to center, and Herbert counted as Sayres punched out a two-baser down the left field line. Babb bunted. Mike grabbed the ball and, aided by Pete, killed off Sayers mid way between secand and third. Bubin popped to Pete.

In the seventh, Chester batters went out in order and Chester hopes began to sag. Ashe was going good and that one-run lead looked like a mountain to the visiting ball club. McCoy had his lads on their toes, in there battling to keep that narrow margin. Some of the less hopeful Chester followers had begun to pick out the nearest exits.

Heck and Mike Tie It Up.

But Heckathorne, hitting at the moment at a 1.000 clip, stepped to the plate and laced out a two-bagger to right field and Chester pulse beats came back to normal again. Then Wilde popped up to Herbert and Pete Cebula lined one out to Crawford in center.

"I can't be beaten like this," muttered Mike as he selected a piece of timber and strode to the plate. "Not if I can help it," he grunted as the horsehide, propelled by a hefty wallop, skinned over the grasstops along the left field line and Heckathorne came tearing in from second base to tie the score at 5-5. But brother George fanned and Mike was left stranded.

Parsons, Herbert and Sayres were retired in order in the last of the eighth.

Ashe bore down in the ninth, fanning Marshall and Stoffel. Potts went out, Sayres to Babb.

Mike also had something on the ball as he whiffed Bubin and Hunselman in the second section of the ninth, and Babb grounded out, Pete Cebula to Heckathorne.

The game went into the tenth inning and then it happened.

With cataclysmic suddenness, Chester bats broke out in a rash of base hits and pounded in seven runs as the power with which Ashe had kept them subdued for nine long innings, lost its grip and fell away.

Ashe Shelled From Mound.

Green, first up, walked. Heckathorne beat out an infield rap to Herbert. Wilde laid down a bunt that stopped three feet in front of the plate and beat out the throw, filling the sacks. Chester fans broke into a frenzy as Pete Cebula, erstwhile Mid-Atlantic performer, met the apple on the trademark and sent it to the left field limits, scoring Greene and Heckathorne, being held up at second and Wilde at third under existing ground rules. Mike fanned. C. Cebula flied to Bubin, Wilde scoring.

Bennett drove one at Ashe. The pitcher was slow in getting it away and flung hurriedly to Babb, the ball bouncing off Bennett's back at first base, P. Cebula counting. Marshall reached first on Ashe's throw to Babb, scoring Bennett. Stoffell singled to right. Potts singled into short left field, Stoffel holding up at third.

Ashe was beckoned to the bench at this juncture and Briggle went to the mound. Potts, the huge Chester catcher, ambled to the keystone sack for a stolen base. Greene slapped one out for two bases and Stoffell and Potts finished the circuit. Heckathorne fanned.

Digman went in as a pinch hitter for Briggle in the last of the tweni and reached first as Heckathorne juggled his grounder. Finley popped to Wilde. Crawford hit an easy fly to Greene and Parsons fanned.

"THERE WON'T BE A SECOND BELL"--JACK

HIGH GRIDDERS OPEN SATURDAY

Clash With Sebring Here; Lineup Still a Question.

An air of seriousness permeates the Blue and White football camp today. Bill Cox's husky linemen are hunched a little lower, plunging a little harder; McCutcheon's backfielders are hitting a little harder, sprinting the ends a little faster, and Coach George Kidder is driving the whole combination with a sterner hand—The first game of the season is just six days away.

The Blue and White crew is anxious to open with a victory and they intend that Sebring shall be the first victim. The Mahoning countians fell before the locals just a year ago and will tumble again unless all signs fail.

Coach Kidder has selected no definite lineup as the team goes down the last training stretch before actual warfare opens, but possibly he has a combination figured out as a starter. The willingness and ability of a crew of burly linemen will make it difficult to pick seven outstanding performers from among Ends English, Cordwin, Deems and McKee; Tackles Smith, Clark, Anderson and Carney; Guards Swaney, Kinsey, Irwin, Todd, Gefeller and Allison; and backfielders Davis, McConville, Bromby, Kickham, Fullerton, Lincoln and Van Dyne.

There is only one job that can be selected at present without fear of contradiction. There is hardly any question about Dick Larkins starting at center. Outside of that it's more or less of a guess at the present stage of affairs.

Practice sessions will continue at City Park this week, portions of Patterson Field still being under water.

Dempsey is Guarded As Big Fight Nears

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Taking precaution against bodily harm—possibly by gunmen—Jack Dempsey has ordered six picked men from a local detective agency rushed to his training camp at Atlantic City, it was reported here today.

At present Dempsey is guarded by four of the "hardest" detectives in the country. Two of these are Sergeant Johnny Broderick and "Happy Jack" Smith, members of New York's famous 'strong arm" squad.

Cards-Reds Face Showdown Sunday On Redlegs' Field

NEW YORK, Sept. 20—Maybe the Yankees are "in" at least: Maybe an American league pennant that was as good as won in mid-August can be clinched in late September, now that this inspiring New York outfit enjoys a 3½ game lead with only eight games to play. But the greatest race in the history of the National league probably will send the Cardinals and Reds right on down to the wire, running jowl to jowl, with the ultimate show—down coming in Cincinnati next Sunday when the two contenders must face each other for the last time.

The writer happens to like the Cardinals, in spite of the fact that they must travel the rougher road to the pennant. They have five games more to play and two of them are with the Giants, who, yesterday brought the Cards back to their field by pulling out a 6 to 5 decision over Mr. Hornsby's favorite ball club.

Previously, the Giants had aided in the obsequies that marked the passing of the Pittsburgh Pirates and only the day before they beat the Reds at a most critical moment in the race, so the New York club can't be overlooked as a serious hurdle for the Cardinals in the last week of the race. The Reds, meantime, will be feasting on the tailenders, the Phils and Braves, and before the end of the current week, the Cards' one-game lead may have evaporated into thin air, or, at least, it may be no greater than it is today.

I favor the Cards for three reasons, one of which is the single game lead afore mentioned. This places the burden of proof right on the Reds, as any handicap must. But I like the Cards, also, because they are the better ball club and because they seem to have that unconscious something that one must associate with a pennant winner. The Cardinals look the part.

Of course, if the race must narrow down to a single game, pitching will play too great a part at that juncture to offer a medium for logical forecast. For one day at least, it is possible for the worst club in the world to beat the best and it may be that Cincinnati, playing before a friendly home crowd, will beat St. Louis next Sunday, although neither club comes under the above designations. They are just good ball clubs, of which one seems to have an almost undefinable edge on the other. In short, I think the Cardinals will win the pennant, regardless of what may develop during the final week.

As for the American league, the situation there has taken on that post-mortem air in which the word "if" becomes of paramount moment. By finally beating the Indians yesterday, the Yankees reached the "if" stage. Therefore, let it be known that if the Indians win all of their remaining seven games, the Yankees can finish in a tie by winning four of their remaining eight. In other words another defeat or two for Cleveland will just about finish them, even if the Yankees continue to look as bad as they really happen to be. They seem destined to win a pennant in spite of themselves.

SPRINGER HIGH IN RIFLE SHOOT

With 174 out of a possible 200 at four positions John Springer had high score at the local rifle club's shoot Friday night. George Douglass finished second with 172.

Other scores were: W. A. Rymer, 169; G. Menough, 124; E. Culler, 155; H. Stewart, 150; O. Spear, 143.

Springer registered a perfect score on single target with a mark of 50, prone position.

For the second day in succession Ty Cobb broke up a game with a pinch hit. His wallop in the ninth gave the Tigers an 8 to 7 victory over Washington

FINAL BATTLE ON WEDNESDAY

Deciding City League Tilt to be Played at Chester.

The fifth and deciding game of the "baby world's series" of the City Industrial League will be played next Wednesday afternoon at Smith Field, Chester.

The contest will begin promptly at 4 o'clock and will go nine innings.

Decision for these arrangements was made in a conference between Managers Saul McCoy, of Laughlin, and Frank Riley of Chester, late Saturday evening.

"Tails," chosen by Pilot Riley, turned up in the toss-up by President C. C. Cline, league president, Boss McCoy having selected "heads."

With a 4 o'clock start it is figured that a full nine-frame engagement can be completed before darkness.

Wednesday was chosen as the time for the game by reason of the fact that business houses of both the West Virginia towns use it as a half-holiday.

Both clubs, too, will have a helpful interim of rest following the extra inning combat of Saturday.

Both team leaders are optimistic of the outcome of the forthcoming crucial game.

"We are going to win now, sure," affirmed Riley to McCoy during the negotiations. "I have three pitchers now: Mike, Wilde and Stoffell, even though P. Bennett does go back to Wabash college. After fighting under such difficulties as have been ours I feel the spirit of the Chester club has reached a point that will carry them through to a victory."

But Sol McCoy won't stand for such optimism on the part of the up-river delegation. "Laughlin always has and always will come through," he rejoined. "You will get a taste of Digman, and he will be more fit by the time of this game. The breaks went against us in one inning Saturday, but the club played fine ball, at that. We are ging in to win and don't make the mistake that we are not."

The Yankees came to life and pounded out an 8 to 3 victory over Cleveland, stretching their lead to three and one-half games. Gehrig clouted three doubles and a home run and Ruth got his forty-third homer of the season.

'I'm Going To Lay Out Gene In First Round'

Champion, Reassuring Normile Following Filing of Suit by Kearns, Says He'll Show 'em How Little He Ever Did Need Former Manager; Asserts He's in Shape.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 20.—"Never mind getting upset, Gene, there'll never be a second bell in this fight with Tunney."

The speaker was Jack Dempsey and the remark was made Saturday night at a pow-wow, the details of which have just come to light today.

When Dempsey learned that Kearns had started some legal proceedings against him here on Saturday, he went to Gene Normille, his manager. Normille was angered and launched a bitter tirade against Kearns.

"Kearns has done everything that a human can do to try to get you upset and get your mind so worried about this legal suff that you might not be able to keep it on the fight," Normille said.

Dempsey's answer came with unfailing smile.

"Sure, that's what Kearns is really aiming to do," he replied. "He wants me to lose because he figures if I blow the title in this fight he then can tell the folks that he was the boy who kept me a champion. He doesn't want me to win because it would show how little I ever did need him."

Dempsey put a hand on Normille's shoulder and with the smile gone from his face, said:

Will End It Quickly.

"Just to prove to you and to prove to the world how little this thing is upsetting me, I'll make you the promise that for this fight there'll never be the need of a second bell. In some of the fights in my career I've worked to hammer a man down gradually and win without too much effort. Outside the Firpo fight and the Willard fight, I never let go with punches that carried everything I had in them. But this fight—well, this will be different. When the bell rings I am going out after Tunney and if he is up on his feet when the first round is over, then I'll be more surprised than I ever have been in my life."

Dempsey seems unconcerned about the suit which Kearns filed and which resulted in Dempsey being declared a temporary bankrupt and barred from leaving the state. Kearns demanded an accounting of all the money Dempsey received during the life time of their three-year contract from Aug. 3, 1923, until Aug. 3, 1926. To insure appearance in court Tuesday Dempsey was required to post a $100,000 bond.

The champion's last public workout was to be staged here this afternoon. The main part of the program called for shadow boxing and bag punching.

The Browns nosed out the Athletics in the tenth, 5 to 4. Rice had a perfect day at bat with four hits.

INSIDE Ggolf

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 81 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

RIGHT ARM PULL IS A COMMON FAULT

Made Differently

If judged only by comparison of tobaccos, Lucky Strikes would be the best on the market.

They contain the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and perfectly blended.

But beyond that is an extra process—toasting—which gives them real distinction, making them indeed superior.

In smoking Lucky Strikes, you will find:

1. Finer Flavor. Toasting for 45 minutes develops the hidden flavors of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos.
2. Smoothness. Toasting for 45 minutes removes all "bite" and harshness, hence never any throat irritation.
3. Freshness. Then the tobacco is suddenly chilled. This seals the flavor in and insures constant freshness.

To attain these unique results, extra money is spent to give you added pleasure. This added effort brings extra goodness which accounts for the growing popularity of Luckies.

Letters Approving Alien Claim Read In Daugherty Case

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Correspondence relating to the approval by the office of former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty of the American Metals company's claim to $7,000,000 worth of assets seized during the war as alien property was introduced today at the trial of Daugherty and Colonel Thomas W. Miller, formerly alien property custodian.

Daugherty and Miller are charged with conspiracy, the government alleging they defrauded the United States of their "honest, unbiased and impartial services" in connection with the return of the property to the foreign interest.

Two letters purporting to show how the attorney general's office O. K'd the claim in 1921 were introduced this morning while Cyril W. McLean, of Oakland, Calif., was on the stand. McLean, who is a lawyer, was chief clerk in the department of justice during the Daugherty administration of that office.

Walker Whiteside, Coming Here, Plays At Alvin Theatre

Walker Whiteside, whose long transcontinental tour will bring him to this city on Tuesday evening, Sept. 28, at which time he will present his latest dramatic success, "The Arabian," opened a week's engagement at the Alvin theatre, Pittsburgh, today.

From the gifted pen of Gordon Kean, who wrote "The Hindu," this fascinating comedy-melodrama, has proved to be a genuine triumph, for "The Arabian" jumped into immediate popularity immediate after its initial performance last March. The author has provided Mr. Whiteside with a stirring, straightforward story of keen adventure in the great Sahara Sands, where Abd el Rey, a famous bandit, holds undisputed sway. A strong British force is sent into the burning sands to kill or capture the brigand who is known to his followers as "Zantra." This astute personage is fully informed by wireless of the plans of his enemies, and eventually the troop train falls into the bandit's hands. An act of treachery imperils the lives of all concerned in "Zantra's" capture, but the intrepid English heroine beards the bandit in his opulent ten and saves her lover and his companions from the impending wrath of the enraged brigand.

Whiteside has long been note for his impersonations of oriental characters, and it is said that his interpretation of the bandit, "Zantra," is quite the finest acting he has ever done. The supporting cast which will be seen here is headed by Miss Sydney Shields, whose splendid acting in other plays will be readily recalled. This famous stage beauty will enact the character of Diane the heroine, who brings the Zantra to a realization of his debt to society.

Haskin's Letter

with resultant blunders and laxities if nothing worse.

In the circumstances, the amazing thing, according to those who are studying the problem, is that this gigantic business is on the whole so well conducted. The people of the nation, who are the stockholders, may have cause at times and in various cases to feel that their money is being wasted, but in the long run they have the satisfaction of knowing that they are getting the best educational system in the world, and one that is being improved constantly.

Dr. H. A. L. Fisher, Great Britain's minister of Education during the World War, recently spent some time in this country inspecting our schools. In the light of what he found here he said that in America "education is the great harmonizer, the nation maker, the essential American thing." He also stated that in pedagogical experiments, material equipment, and in school buildings this country led the world, and that in our provisions made for our adolescent children we were far ahead of Great Britain, as we were in providing financial support for education.

The Bureau of Education.

The United States Bureau of Education, which is a unit of the department of the Interior, conducts surveys, collects statistics and facts showing the status and progres of education in the states and territories, and disseminates information on all phases of education. It is, in fact, the national clearing house for educational information.

The activities of the bureau are divided into four parts—field service, research and investigatton of special educational problems, educational surveys, and dissemination of information. In one year 28 surveys were made. In the same period Dr. John J. Tigert, commissioner of education, spent 137 days in the field, conducted four national conferences, and delivered 157 addresses before audiences aggregating more than 87,000 persons. Twenty other members of the bureau's staff rendered 616 days of field service outside the District of Columbia, seventeen of them delivering 185 addresses before audiences totaling more than 45,000 persons.

Typical investigations undertaken by the bureau include: Residence and migration of university and college students; engineering curricula; standards and sources of standards in educational; administration of rural education; tendencies in state courses of study; the training of rural teachers; high school education of the farm population; use of intelligence nad acchievement tests; nature-study courses in normal schools; work-study-play curricula; industrial education in penal institutions; home economics in junior and senior high schools; and relation of home economics to the social sciences.

Washington, California, Ohio, New York and New Jersey are the leading school states, according to the bureau authorities.

One unusual fact may be mentioned in connection with California. That state actually has more children enrolled in its schools that it has children of school age in its population as shown by the census. This apparent impossibility is explained by the fact that many families from other states take up their winter residence in California and send their children to the California schools, although they are not citizens of nor included in the census figures for the state.

'FINE MANNERS' AT CERAMIC

Gloria Swanson and Eugene O'Brien are Stars.

Any old job looks better than mine," H. T. Webster's famous line, now has a brand new advocate.

It's Eugene O'Brien, dapper society hero of the movies. After all the years in which O'Brien has been wearing immaculate outfits, he would now like to throw aside the spats and cane for a — well, you'll never guess.

"I want to play cowboy roles," asserts O'Brien. "Why must I always be a well-dressed man? The robust, swash-buckling heroes of the open spaces are the kind of parts I'd like to do!"

Mr. O'Brien's confession came while Gloria Swanson's latest Paramount picture, "Fine Manners," was being filmed. Gloria overheard him, and smiled, just a little bit.

"Boulder, Colorado, was my home town," says Gene, "and I was a hard-riding kid. Since coming east, I haven't been on a horse. Even in 'Frivolous Sal,' I took the part of an eastern weakling."

O'Brien's role opposite Miss Swanson in "Fine Manners," which opened a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre today, he admitted, is a good one, sympathetic and wholesome enough to satisfy anyone.

"But, just look at these clothes," he added. "Me for a white hat, woolly chaps, and big, bad six-shooter! Jack Holt, Tox Mix and Bill Hart are the lucky lads!"

COLLEEN MOORE AT AMERICAN

"It Must Be Love" is Feature Screen Attraction.

Should a girl put love of a sweetheart above love of parents?

This is one of the puzzles which make the character played by Colleen Moore in "It Must Be Love" one of the most interesting and appealing in that piquant actress' screen career.

"It Must Be Love" opened a three-day run at the American theatre today.

The girl portrayed by Miss Moore comes to a crossroad in her life when she realizes that the home back of her father's delicatessen store is not good enough for her friends.

At least that is what she believes, although the story's ending proves the truth to be otherwise. Because of her misunderstanding, then, of her own pride many heart-breaking moments follow her taking up a new home away from her parents.

The picture, however, is not all sentiment; it is full of laughter, as a Colleen Moore offering always is.

Letters Approving Alien Claim Read In Daugherty Case

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Correspondence relating to the approval by the office of former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty of the American Metals company's claim to $7,000,000 worth of assets seized during the war as alien property was introduced today at the trial of Daugherty and Colonel Thomas W. Miller, formerly alien property custodian.

Daugherty and Miller are charged with conspiracy, the government alleging they defrauded the United States of their "honest, unbiased and impartial services" in connection with the return of the property to the foreign interest.

Two letters purporting to show how the attorney general's office O. K'd the claim in 1921 were introduced this morning while Cyril W. McLean, of Oakland, Calif., was on the stand. McLean, who is a lawyer, was chief clerk in the department of justice during the Daugherty administration of that office.

Walker Whiteside, Coming Here, Plays At Alvin Theatre

Walker Whiteside, whose long transcontinental tour will bring him to this city on Tuesday evening, Sept. 28, at which time he will present his latest dramatic success, "The Arabian," opened a week's engagement at the Alvin theatre, Pittsburgh, today.

From the gifted pen of Gordon Kean, who wrote "The Hindu," this fascinating comedy-melodrama, has proved to be a genuine triumph, for "The Arabian" jumped into immediate popularity immediate after its initial performance last March. The author has provided Mr. Whiteside with a stirring, straightforward story of keen adventure in the great Sahara Sands, where Abd el Rey, a famous bandit, holds undisputed sway. A strong British force is sent into the burning sands to kill or capture the brigand who is known to his followers as "Zantra." This astute personage is fully informed by wireless of the plans of his enemies, and eventually the troop train falls into the bandit's hands. An act of treachery imperils the lives of all concerned in "Zantra's" capture, but the intrepid English heroine beards the bandit in his opulent ten and saves her lover and his companions from the impending wrath of the enraged brigand.

Whiteside has long been note for his impersonations of oriental characters, and it is said that his interpretation of the bandit, "Zantra," is quite the finest acting he has ever done. The supporting cast which will be seen here is headed by Miss Sydney Shields, whose splendid acting in other plays will be readily recalled. This famous stage beauty will enact the character of Diane the heroine, who brings the Zantra to a realization of his debt to society.

In the circumstances, the amazing thing, according to those who are studying the problem, is that this gigantic business is on the whole so well conducted. The people of the nation, who are the stockholders, may have cause at times and in various cases to feel that their money is being wasted, but in the long run they have the satisfaction of knowing that they are getting the best educational system in the world, and one that is being improved constantly.

Dr. H. A. L. Fisher, Great Britain's minister of Education during the World War, recently spent some time in this country inspecting our schools. In the light of what he found here he said that in America "education is the great harmonizer, the nation maker, the essential American thing." He also stated that in pedagogical experiments, material equipment, and in school buildings this country led the world, and that in our provisions made for our adolescent children we were far ahead of Great Britain, as we were in providing financial support for education.

The Bureau of Education.

The United States Bureau of Education, which is a unit of the department of the Interior, conducts surveys, collects statistics and facts showing the status and progres of education in the states and territories, and disseminates information on all phases of education. It is, in fact, the national clearing house for educational information.

The activities of the bureau are divided into four parts—field service, research and investigatton of special educational problems, educational surveys, and dissemination of information. In one year 28 surveys were made. In the same period Dr. John J. Tigert, commissioner of education, spent 137 days in the field, conducted four national conferences, and delivered 157 addresses before audiences aggregating more than 87,000 persons. Twenty other members of the bureau's staff rendered 616 days of field service outside the District of Columbia, seventeen of them delivering 185 addresses before audiences totaling more than 45,000 persons.

Typical investigations undertaken by the bureau include: Residence and migration of university and college students; engineering curricula; standards and sources of standards in educational; administration of rural education; tendencies in state courses of study; the training of rural teachers; high school education of the farm population; use of intelligence nad acchievement tests; nature-study courses in normal schools; work-study-play curricula; industrial education in penal institutions; home economics in junior and senior high schools; and relation of home economics to the social sciences.

Washington, California, Ohio, New York and New Jersey are the leading school states, according to the bureau authorities.

One unusual fact may be mentioned in connection with California. That state actually has more children enrolled in its schools that it has children of school age in its population as shown by the census. This apparent impossibility is explained by the fact that many families from other states take up their winter residence in California and send their children to the California schools, although they are not citizens of nor included in the census figures for the state.

'FINE MANNERS' AT CERAMIC

Gloria Swanson and Eugene O'Brien are Stars.

Any old job looks better than mine," H. T. Webster's famous line, now has a brand new advocate.

It's Eugene O'Brien, dapper society hero of the movies. After all the years in which O'Brien has been wearing immaculate outfits, he would now like to throw aside the spats and cane for a — well, you'll never guess.

"I want to play cowboy roles," asserts O'Brien. "Why must I always be a well-dressed man? The robust, swash-buckling heroes of the open spaces are the kind of parts I'd like to do!"

Mr. O'Brien's confession came while Gloria Swanson's latest Paramount picture, "Fine Manners," was being filmed. Gloria overheard him, and smiled, just a little bit.

"Boulder, Colorado, was my home town," says Gene, "and I was a hard-riding kid. Since coming east, I haven't been on a horse. Even in 'Frivolous Sal,' I took the part of an eastern weakling."

O'Brien's role opposite Miss Swanson in "Fine Manners," which opened a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre today, he admitted, is a good one, sympathetic and wholesome enough to satisfy anyone.

"But, just look at these clothes," he added. "Me for a white hat, woolly chaps, and big, bad six-shooter! Jack Holt, Tox Mix and Bill Hart are the lucky lads!"

COLLEEN MOORE AT AMERICAN

"It Must Be Love" is Feature Screen Attraction.

Should a girl put love of a sweetheart above love of parents?

This is one of the puzzles which make the character played by Colleen Moore in "It Must Be Love" one of the most interesting and appealing in that piquant actress' screen career.

"It Must Be Love" opened a three-day run at the American theatre today.

The girl portrayed by Miss Moore comes to a crossroad in her life when she realizes that the home back of her father's delicatessen store is not good enough for her friends.

At least that is what she believes, although the story's ending proves the truth to be otherwise. Because of her misunderstanding, then, of her own pride many heart-breaking moments follow her taking up a new home away from her parents.

The picture, however, is not all sentiment; it is full of laughter, as a Colleen Moore offering always is.

FLORIDA STORM KILLS 1,000

KIN HERE FEAR FOR BIRKETTS' SAFETY

Today

Steel Cheaper, Better.
39 Philosophers.
Only the Radio.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

CHEMISTS in Philadelphia discuss the great loss in making steel. Mr. Wills, automobile maker, who worked with Henry Ford when they hired a little factory for $750 a year, could tell chemists something interesting. A new process of making steel will be developed, by the right people, on a gigantic scale, and produce infinitely better steel at lower cost. Made at a lower temperature than is now employed, the steel will have the quality of old Damascus steel, beaten out by hand. Full details later.

The news is important to California, supposed to lack iron. About half way between Los Angeles and San Francisco there are 12 miles of iron sand, at present useless, that can be made into the best of steel by the new electric process. And California waterfalls will supply the lectricity.

Japan, supposed to be dependent on us or Europe for iron and steel, is now independent. In Northern Japan, where the shores were tilted up by volcanic forces long ago, the Japanese have developed three hundred million tons of steel, available with the new process.

Americans do not lag behind. The big steel company, Judge Gary, chairman, Mr. Farrell, president, has developed hundreds of millions of tons of steel in Brazil. There is great water power there, not used, that can be turned into electricity and then into cheap steel.

Have You a Child In School?

Then write today for the booklet on "School Lunches" which the Washington bureau of this paper has for distribution.

The noon lunch is one of the most important school problems. Right thinking depends on the right food. Easy progress and easy digestion have more to do with each other than most people realize or admit.

This little booklet tells about foods that children must have, keeping down the cost of the diet, the importance of good bread, cleanliness in the handling of food, the noon meal at home, the basket lunch, packing the lunch, lunches prepared at school, sample bills of fare, and recipes for lunches.

Enclose four cents in stamps to cover the return postage and handling.

HONEYMOONERS WERE GUESTS IN STORM-TORN MIAMI HOTEL

No Word Received From Willard Birkett and Bride.

J. O. TAYLOR SAFE

East Liverpool Youth Acts as Courier in Hurricane Zone.

2 P. M. BULLETIN
"The Birketts are safe," said a telegram received here today from Sebring, Fla., by Dr. C. H. Birkett.

Fears were entertained here today for the safety of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Birkett, of this city, honeymooners, and guests in the Wofford hotel, at Miami, Florida, which was badly damaged Saturday, when the roof caved in during a hurricane which struck the Florida east coast, killing probably a thousand people, making 40,000 homeless, and wreaking property damage estimated at more than $50,000,000.

Taylor Sends Message.

No word has been received from the Birketts since the storm struck. They were said to have been staying in a room on the third floor of the Wofford, a five-floor hotel.

J. O. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer J. Taylor, of the boulevard, drove the first automobile out of Miami following the storm. Scenes of havoc attending the catastrophe were described briefly by young Taylor in a telegram to his parents here.

Enacting the role of courier, Taylor carried messages to Palm Beach, all means of communication between Miami and the outside world having been cut off.

The storm, as Taylor describes it, beggars description. It is not likely, he asserts, that the debris will be cleaned up before six months at the least.

The city is now threatened with a shortage of food and water and the militia has ben ordered out for duty.

Taylor plans to go to Sebring, Fla., where he will stay with relatives.

The Taylor property at Miami was badly damaged by the storm.

32 PERSONS ARRESTED IN "ROAD HOUSE" RAID ON MILL CREEK HILL

Paul McCoy Held Under $2,000 Bond on Liquor Charge After Pennsylvania Police Visit Ranch Near Chester.

31 OTHERS FREED ON $15 FORFEITS

Twenty-seven Men and Four Women Face Woodlawn Court as Result of Saturday Midnight Liquor Seizure.

Thirty-two persons, including one of the alleged owners, were arrested at midnight Saturday night when a squad of Pennsylvania deputies and state police, under the leadership of Assistant County Detective William Davidson, of Beaver, swooped down upon the Fox and McCoy ranch on Mill Creek hill, Frankfort-Chester road, about three miles back of Chester.

One gallon of wine, three quarts of whisky and two cases of beer, according to the raiders, were confiscated, while the prisoners were taken before Justice of the Peace Clyde Hayward, of Woodlawn, Pa.

Paul McCoy, one of the alleged owners, who is charged with manufacturing and possessing liquor, was remanded to jail in default of $2,000 bond. He is to be given a hearing at 7 o'clock tonight.

Of the 31 others in the place, all charged with visiting a disorderly house, 27 were men and four were women. Seventeen posted $15 each with the court and were released, while the others remained in jail over night, when friends came to their aid.

The prisoners were from East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester, Midland and Weirton.

Aid is Offered Stricken Florida By Buckeye State

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 20.—Recalling Florida's interest in Ohio's great disaster at Lorain of a little more than two years ago, Governor A. Vic Donaheythis morning wired Governor John W. Martin of Florida, the state's sympathy and offering any aid the State of Ohio may give.

"Ohio extends sincerest sympathy to Florida in her disaster. We are reminded of the northern Ohio tornado of June 28, 1924. If this state can be of assistance to you in any way please command us," his wire read.

The state of Florida sent $175 for relief in the devastated Lorain district in 1924.

SKULL CRUSHED BY BLOW FROM AUTO TIRE PUMP

Fred Williams, 20, Chester, Seriously Injured.

NO ARREST MADE

Alleged Victim Attempted to Pull Driver From Car.

Fred Williams, 20, residing back of Rock Springs park, Chester, is in a serious condition in the City hospital today, suffering from a compound fracture of the skull, as a result of being struck on the head Saturday afternoon with an auto tire pump.

According to police, the pump was wielded by Sidney Johnson, 42, of Locust Hill.

Williams, police say, attempted to pull Johnson from his automobile in which he was sitting at Third street and Carolina avenue, Chester. His efforts being resisted, Williams, it is alleged, next directed his attention to a son of Johnson who occupied a rear seat in the car. Johnson, then, it is claimed, jumped from the car, seized the pump and struck Williams on the head, knocking him to the ground. Williams was rendered unconscious.

Dr. George E. Lewis, who was summoned, ordered the injured man taken to the hospital. An operation was performed by Dr. C. H. Bailey, assisted by Dr. Lewis.

Johnson was arrested by Chief of Police Smith of Chester at noon today on charge of assault with intent to kill, preferred by Mrs. Mary Williams, mother of the injured man. Arraigned before Justice A. G. Allison of Chester, he waived a hearing and was bound over to the Hancock county grand jury under $1,000 bond which was furnished.

OHIO GAS RATE IS PROTESTED

Express Train Hits Section Gang; Four Men are Killed

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 20—Speeding around a sharp curve near here an express train of the Philadelphia and Reading railway plunged into a section gang repairing railroad ties and killed four laborers and probably fatally injured another.

Six other workmen narrowly avoided death by quick leaps to safety.

The dead: Leonard Depepee, section foreman; Arthur Ridenous, Stevo Bagi and Steve Spekel, all of Pottstown.

TRESPASSER EITHER FALLS OR IS KNOCKED FROM VIADUCT

Kenneth Myers of Lisbon is Badly Injured.

WALKING TRACKS

Accident Occurs as Westbound Trolley Car Approaches.

Kenneth Myers, 17, of Lisbon, colored, is in a serious condition in the city hospital as a result of injuries received at 11:30 o'clock this morning when he either fell or was knocked from the West Sixth street viaduct, as a city traction car swung around the corner adjacent to the Sixth street school building and started down the slope.

Myers, who fell more than 25 feet, received a fracture of his right thigh and was said to have been hurt badly about the chest.

The youth was walking from Wellsville and took a short cut to Sixth street over the viaduct. According to the report filed with traction company officials, he was walking up the east bound track when he heard the whistle of an eastbound car in the distance. At the time he was probably 30 or 40 feet from the end of the concrete wall at the upper end of the viaduct. He crossed over to the westbound track and simultaneously with his action a westbound car shot around the corner of the concrete wall.

The lad, it was reported, jumped to the edge of the ties just as the car passed, and, according to the story he told traction company officials, he didn't know whether the car hit him or he just slipped off.

Motorman Neiswonger and Conductor Charles Goodwin were in charge of the car. Neiswonger was unable to check the momentum of the car before it reached the spot where the boy stood.

Myers was attended by Dr. Clyde Larkins.

FIRE DAMAGES ALLISON HOME

Damage amounting to several hundred dollars was caused by fire, said to have originated from a short circuit, in the cellar of the Albert Allison home in Cadmus street last night at 9:30 o'clock. The flames, which had started up a partition, were checked by the fire department.

The department also answered a call to Jethro hollow shortly before noon today where an automobile, belonging to the Goodwin Battery company, was on fire. The flames were caused, it is said, by crossed wires. The car was only slightly damaged.

TWISTER STRIKES PENSACOLA, NAVAL RADIO DISPATCH SAYS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The tropical hurricane has struck Pensacola, Fla., according to a meager naval radio dispatch received here at 10:45 a. m. today by the navy department from the navy's wireless station in Pensacola.

The message merely stated that a gale with a velocity of 100 miles an hour had struck the city. The message was relayed here by the naval radio at Key West, Fla.

There were no details given of damage or loss of life.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—President Coolidge, alarmed by the increasing magnitude of the Florida hurricane disaster, this afternoon issued an appeal to the people of the United States to open their purse strings and contribute generously through the Red Cross for relief work among the thousands of sufferers.

By JAMES R. CONNOR, JR.
(Copyright 1926, by I. N. S.)

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 20.—Miami whose marvelous man-made speed in development and construction brought its title—the 'Magic City"—today was shoved back where it was 10 years ago—levelled by the greater necromancy of nature in faster time than puny humans could ever achieve.

The famous resort city and its neighbor, Miami Beach, were the heaviest sufferers in the terrific hurricane which swept in early Saturday morning, tearing down all communication with the lower east Florida coast, ripping apart all things before it, blowing down homes and razing office buildings and leaving an estimated death toll of at least 1,000 with possibilities that this may rise as bodies are uncovered from debris.

Property damage may reach hundreds of millions.

The most optimistic estimates rate the death list as at least 400.

HOLLYWOOD PRACTICALLY WIPED OUT; NO WATER, FOOD OR LIGHT

FORT PIERCE, Fla., Sept. 20.—Thirty thousand people are homeless in Miami and eight thousand homeless in Hollywood today as a result of the tropical hurricane which swept across Southern Florida, leaving death and disaster in its wake.

Accurate figures on the number of dead and injured were not obtainable this morning, but apparently reliable and conservative estimates place the number killed in Miami at 500, in Hialeah 200 and in Hollywood at 54.

Hollywood, which is about 100 miles south of here, is practically destroyed. The town was leveled by the storm, which started late Friday night and reached its highest intensity between 7:30 a. m. and 9:30 a. m. Saturday.

Martial law has been declared in Miami and Hollywood.

The extent of the property damage is enormous. In Miami alone it is estimated at $100,000,000 at least.

All of the stricken localities are in need of immediate help. Cities and

MEDICAL BASE TO BE ESTABLISHED AT SEBRING AS RELIEF IS RUSHED

ABOARD THE FLORIDA RELIEF TRAIN, SEBRING, FLA., Sept. 20.—Every soul in Florida who escaped the wrath of Saturday's hurricane was giving without stint today.

Every city, town and hamlet through which the relief train passed have contributed foodstuffs, clothing, first aid equipment; have sent their doctors, their nurses, their undertakers, and all with a glad heart and a willing spirit.

For Moore Haven, that direly stricken Everglades city which cannot be reached by land, the train is carrying rafts and canoes to enable the relief workers and the supplies to get there.

Included in the cargo are several hundred coffins sent from Tampa, St. Petersburg, and other Florida cities.

Scores of bodies have been seen lying beside thke track and floating in the water.

TERRIFIC GALE WHIPS ALABAMA AND LOUISIANA AS SHIPS IN HURRICANE AREA BEGIN TO REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20.—Mobile, Ala., and Pensacola, Fla., were cut off from the outside world today as the tropical hurricane continued its work of destruction in southeastern Florida and along the Alabama and northwestern Florida coast.

All wires to Mobile and Pensacola were down while coast towns were at the mercy of gales running at 75 miles an hour, accompanied by a heavy downpour of rain.

The United Fruit company here today said their advices were that the storm was centered around Jensacola and Mobile. No definite information was available, however, and the Tropical Aadio office here has been unable to raise the Pensacola aid station which was believed disabled by the storm.

Extreme high tides were predicted and fears were entertained for the safety of ships, many of which took to safety several days ago when the hurricane first broke.

The coming of the storm found the people of the coast towns well prepared. Storm warnings were hoisted Friday and Saturday and inhabitants of towns along the coast warned of the hurricane.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 20.—The tropical hurricane has struck the southeast Alabama coast and all communications with Mobile and other coast towns was cut off today.

Governor Brandon dispatched three airplanes from Maxwell Field to the area cut off by the storm to ascertain the damage. The planes are expected back here by noon.

Mobile, according to reports here, was in the throes of a 75-mile-an-hour gale. Train service to the southeastern part of the state was disrupted and all wires were down.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20.—Indications that the tropical hurricane may strike the Louisiana coast today was seen in the 75-mile-an-hour gale which began blowing early this morning. Rain was falling and seas were running high.

The barometer at Burwood, La., dropped from 29.64 to 29.56 in a few hours. The tide was high with 34-mile-an-hour winds.

The barometer also fell four points in Mobile and New Orleans and apprehension for safety of boats in the Mississippi increased.

When last definitely located the hurricane center was approximately 180 miles east southeast of New Orleans. If moving northwest, the hurricane will strike this vicinity in a few hours but if it has curved to the north it will hit its hardest blow in the Pensacola-Mobile vicinity, weather bureau officials believed.

A 60-mile an hour gale was reported in Mobile, Alabama, at 8 a. m. today.

An advisory weather report issued this morning said the storm was likely to hit near the mouth of the Mississippi than Pensacola. It predicted extreme high tides for the middle gulf and Lake Pontchartrain.

At Bay St. Louis and Gulfport, Miss., the barometer registered a drop of 14 points. Small craft from Biloxi to Gulfport have sought places of safety.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Ships missing in the hurricane area off the Florida coast began reporting today.

Eight vessels plying between New York and tropical ports had been missing, but word from them began to flash in by radio to steamship offices here this morning.

Word came that the steamer Pawnee of the Clyde line missed the storm and is safe in port at Jacksonville. The steamship Chedokee of the same line also reacher port.

No word has come, however, from the steamship President Harrison of the Dollar line nor has the steamship Finland of the Panama Pacific line been heard from. Both left Thursday for Havana.

The United Fruit company, which operates numerous boats through the hurricane area, told International News Service that so far as they know none of their vessels are missing.

Fear had been expressed concerning the Lamport and Holt liner Vandyck, which had been enroute from Buenos Aires and thought to have been in the path of the storm, but radio dispatches this morning said she was safe and would arrive here Wednesday.

Word was being awaited from the Santa Theresa, headed for Christobal, the Coma en route to Porto Rico and

RED CROSS TELEGRAPHS CHAPTERS TO 'STAND BY' TORNADO-TORN CITIES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The machinery of federal relief was set in motion today to aid the thousands of homeless and stricken people in Florida.

The war department is ready to rush further supplies from its nearest concentration points, the actual movement awaiting only definite information as to where they are most needed.

GLITTER

By Katharine Brush

BOOK TWO—XIV.

There was a silence, and then she rose and went out of the room. Jock remained, brooding. . . . Several months. It had a ghastly sound, incessant and drear, like a prison sentence. Several months without Yvonne. Without beauty, without color, without flame. A stretching nothingness. An aeon of misery, to be got through heaven alone knew how. But she cared a little, and that was something. And when she returned she would tell him. . . .

Presently he became restless. His last afternoon with her, and again he was waiting here alone, squandering all too many priceless minutes.

"Yvonne!" he shouted.

"Yes?"

"Come back here!"

"I will, in a second. I'm putting a hat and coat on."

"Why, what for?"

And they did. Somehow people always did what Yvonne wanted. Until evening dropped down on New York and the buildings were checkerboards of light and darkness they walked, and talked lightly (because Yvonne wanted it to be lightly) and grew pink with chill, and sparkling-eyes. . . .

"Itn't it glorious?" breathed Yvonne.

"Not as glorious as being back at your apartment."

Her laugh was a chord from a gay sweet song. "Don't you like Central Park?"

"I don't like any public place, with you, on our last—"

She intentionally misunderstood him. "Now there's a pretty compliment!" she mocked. Of course there are men who don't care to be seen about with me, but I didn't think the list included you!

Sheer nonsense, of course. But Jock wished she would not say such things.

They walked slowly, sauntering. A couple to make tired faces lift and soften as they passed, the boy so young, so good to look at, the girl perhaps not quite so young, but exotic, picturesque, in a chinchilla coat and a hat that cast flattering shadows. . . . Jock held Yvonne's arm tucked close to him, and his eyes never left her. They caressed her, did her homage.

"You mustn't look like that, Jock Hamill."

"Like what?"

"As though you were in love with me."

"Good Lord, I am—"

"Yes, but why let everybody know?"

They were nearing a bench on which reposed the shapeless figure of an old ragged man. Jock halted. "Sir," he said politely, "allow me to announce that I'm in love with this woman, and please tell as many people as you can find to listen."

They went on. "Silly boy!" smiled Yvonne tenderly.

Jock looked sober. "Did you get his expression?" he asked. "Surprised, and after that, wistful? It made him feel old and forlorn—the contrast—I'm sorry I did it—"

XV.

Their parting took place at five-thirty, abruptly. "Do you see that taxicab, Jock Hamill?"

"I do."

"Put me into it and send me home."

Jock stopped dead in his tracks. "Send you home? I'll do nothing of the sort. Why, I thought—aren't you going to have dinner with me? Yvonne! Your last night—"

"I'd rather you'd remember me in Central Park," said Yvonne, "than in an atmosphere of clattering china and planked steaks and—flappers." And to this decision she clung obstinately, though Jock tried almost with desperation to dissuade her. He felt cheated. She had tricked him into talking of inconsequential things when he thought he had hours left in which to talk, and he had said nothing of what filled his mind. Also he felt tortured, as though something inside him was dying a little. . . .

"Don't say goodbye," Yvonne commanded from the taxi. "I abominate that word. Just say something very collegiate and foolish—'See you in church,' or something like that—"

But Jock, stricken, could not even say something like that.

The door slammed.

Then she was gone.

XVI.

The next day, in the automobile section of a New York Sunday paper, Jock chanced upon a single-column cut of a man whose features were dimly familiar. The caption line conveyed nothing to him. "Parke Demorest, president and general manager of the Demorest Motors Corporation." He looked hard at the picture again, scowling in concentration. Then it came to him. This was the man with the cold blue eyes who had entered the restaurant that first time he and Yvonne lunched together — the man whom Yvonne had joined, and with whom she had talked so long. Jock could almost hear her voice again, saying, "You have me coining epigrams, Parke," and then something about jealousy. . . . So that was who the follow was? Park Demorest, of Demorest Motors. Rich as Croesus. . . .

He read the paragraph below the picture, an announcement of the purchase of some other, more obscure make of motor car by Parke Demorest. And finally, at the bottom, this:

XVII.

The first two weeks of December were busy, for which Jock was thankful, because they left him little time for thinking and remembering. He wished that he need not think at all; that he might make his mind a blank until such day as Yvonne should return from California and tell him the truth. Plenty of time then to cogitate matters. No use to try to do it now, when all one's suspicions were based on a single line of newspaper type that might possibly prove to be only coincidence, after all.

Numerous activities connived to keep him occupied. For one thing, he suddenly stared wild-eyed into the face of the fact that he had done almost no studying during the term. Mid-year exams loomed, a distinct and not far-distant menace. He turned to his subjects and began to absorb them with an avidity that incited Bones to lofty scorn. He took to listening in classes where he had previously only dreamed, and the fly-leaves of his textbooks knew his idly-scrawling pencil no longer.

For another thing, there was "practice." This meant that day after day Jock with his banjo and numerous comrades with instruments of divers sorts sat in informal attitudes around a great barren platform, while before them a frenzied youth in spectacles beat time, and tore his hair, and howled, "Come on, you saxes! What's the matter with the second violin? Louder, louder! Softer! Slower! Hey, get into the spirit of this thing, will you, fellows? Quit syncopating, over there—this is one tune that's got to be played as is. Oh, rotten! Lousy. We'll get hissed off the stage—" "We" was the University Musical Club, a combination of vocalists and instrumentalists, and the occasion of the practice was a concert to be given before the elite of Boston on the first night of the Christmas vacation.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Old Folks Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help, else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish a natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronically constipated. It never gripes, sickens or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1926.

City's First Dahlia Show

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and staged by a society of 35 amateur growers from Newell and Chester, W. Va., and Beaver, Pa., as well as the city proper, East Liverpool's first annual dahlia exhibition will be held on the second floor of the D. M. Ogilivie annex, Washington street, Thursday and Friday. The show will open to the public at 7 o'clock Thursday evening, and no admission will be charged.

Enthusiasm in the cultivation of the multi-colored flower has been manifested here since tests at Sewickley, Pa., have convinced lovers of the beautiful that the dahlia can be grown as successfully in the Ohio Valley as in Massachusetts and New Jersey. And the result is that the flower now adds to the attractiveness of front and back yards of homes whose owners have propagated it.

Hoping to stimulate even more interest in this worth-while movement, as well as to gain benefits that are inevitable in such an organization, without any thought of commercialism, dahlia growers in the district formed the East Liverpool society. And the only reward these amateur florists expect is an increase in the enrollment of flower lovers.

The first annual dahlia show should go a long way toward kindling the spark of civic pride, for it will acquaint the public with the ease with which the flower is grown. And consequently it should mean the beautifying of back yards and vacant lots which are now eye-sores.

Visit the dahlia exhibition Thursday and Friday.

Broader Broadcasting

The American Telephone and Telegraph company's big New York broadcasting station, WEAF, perhaps the best known station in the world, will be taken over by the Radio Corporation of America.

This seems to mean, first of all, that the A. T. and T. is going to stick to wires and confine its energies to ordinary telegraphy and telephony, leaving entertainment and news broadcasting to others.

It means, at the same time, that the Radio corporation is entering upon a career of expansion. It plans to take the relay broadcasting system developed by the A. T. and T. and broaden it to take in many more cities, making its New York programs available in every part of the country by combined use of wires and wireless. Programs, too, the officials say, will be broadened, to include important public events in every section of the country. The aim will be to build up what might be called a national radio service.

For all this the public will pay nothing—that is, directly. Expenses of broadcasting, which are very large, will be met as heretofore through advertising charges, paid by business firms which are satisfied to provide entertainment for the good will they get out of it. This is a natural development, and seems to work pretty well so far.

Any tendency to over-commercialism, making the advertising appeal offensive or tiresome, will doubtless be corrected by public disapproval.

The real danger of such a development, perhaps, is the growth of radio monopoly. But there seems no need of immediate worry about that. Congress is expected to provide an adequate regulative system next winter, and public sentiment will probably be strong enough to insure fair play and proper competition in this field.

French-American Feeling

Ambassador Herrick insists that he knows of no good reason why the plans of the American Legion to hold its convention in France next year should not be carried out. The same position is taken by Henry D. Lindsley, frist national commander of the Legion. Both maintain that reports in this country of widespread anti-American sentiment in France are not justified by facts, but bear evidence of mischievous propaganda.

"I had heard little or nothing of this agitation over here until my arrival," says Mr. Herrick, "and I was surprised at the extent to which this impression had been encouraged and carried throughout the country on so little foundation—so much so that I could not help but believe that there were those unfriendly to our two countries who were mysteriously promoting this scandal."

No doubt anti-American outbreaks in France have been exaggerated. There is a spirit of criticism abroad, and the French are obviously less friendly to Americans than they were; but it is hardly conceivable that a nation so famous for its courtesy would fail to show real hospitality to the American war veterans.

In fact, sending these veterans to France may be the best way of restoring friendly relations, because their presence will serve to remind the French nation of the perilous times when our boys and theirs fought side by side in a common cause.

It may help particularly if the movement now under way to make Gen. Pershing the next national commander succeeds. The French like and trust Pershing.

It might be supposed that when Atlantic City calls in Neptune to crown a beauty champion, the winner would be a mermaid; and that girl from Oklahoma doesn't swim the channel or anything.

'Spunky' Edwards' Wonderful Chemical Discovery— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up betimes and Frazier Hunt told of the ranch he acquired near that of the Prince of Wales in Canada, the proud plainsman. Then to walk a short way with Jack Lait, the pamphleteer, discussing this, that and the other.

Home and came Mrs. Willis Wood and Mrs. Nellie Hussey who recently visited my native town and were sailing at midnight and I had news of Jay Price and his brother Stuart, each of whom I am fond, and to my tailor, his street being all torn up, and a pox on the bunding zealots.

In the evening with my wife, Justine and Miss Tyler to a roof cafe and greeted Dudley Field Malone, the lawyer, and Joe Moore and Gene Crawley and their ladies and an irritating man kept twirling a red headed girl on the dance floor until some hissed, a mean thing to do. So to bed.

Two hote's have dispensed with their miniature aquariums. In one the fish disported in a lobby fountain and in the other in a huge glass tank. Despite vigilance of attendants, the captives would float to the top wide eyed and still. They expired because of the carelessness of passersby who flipped cigar and cigarette stubs into the water.

Careless smokers otherwise cause a heavy loss in hotels by burning holes in table linens, carpets and spotting up furniture.

One of the supper clubs to burgeon with the first frost will have glass tables, inside of which will swim gorgeous finned fish amid sprays of colored lights. The convert charge will provide amply for the upkeep of the fish.

Night clubs, by the way, are preparing to open on a grander scale than ever. Twenty-six new and elaborate bazaars are scheduled to make a bow to the jaded. Others are being refurbished and many of the cabarets are to draw talent from high priced vaudeville and revue headliners.

Raids and padlocking have not stunted the growth although this past summer many had to shut down for lack of patronage. Several newspapers are now devoting daily columns to their activities and the celebrities seen there. There is a story of a reporter visiting a night club and inquiring of the manager, "Any raids lately?" He was told "No," and taking a chair said, "All right, I'll wait."

The investment for a night club is not heavy and if it is successful profits are enormous. The custom of having a hostess who calls out name of people at tables appeals to that surging army of New Yorkers who like to be seen.

The latest to enter the field as a night club proprietor is young Roger Wolfe Kahn. Many clubs have discovered they do not have to violate the Volstead law to prosper. Most of the patrons bring their own and the prices for thin sandwiches and table water plus the couvert gouge—runs into what Broadway classes "important money."

There are ways to accomplish most anything here if you have the kudos. A slashing rain deluged Broadway. An elegantly dressed gentleman with equally elegant luggage came out of an office building. Taxis were rushing by filled. At the curb was a sightseeing bus half filled. "Twenty-dollars if you get me to the Grand Central in seven minutes," he said to the driver—and he was thundered away.

A meticulous gentleman was selecting dinner at the next table. "Are the vegetables fresh?" he blandly inquired of the waiter. I wonder just how he would have felt if the waiter had replied "Hello!"

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Business of Education—I.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 20.—The biggest business in the world, aside from the federal government, is not the United States Steel corporation with its vast resources nad dazzling earnings, nor the General Motors company which recently surpassed the steel mammoth in net profits for a given period. It is not Standard Oil with its tremendous ramifications. It is not the British rubber monopoly.

It is a business with billions of invested capital, with an annual expenditure of billions, with earnings that can not be computed, with more than a hundred million stockholders, and with a great army of some 28,000,000 workers, and yet it is a business that never sells a dollar's worth of its product, that never shows either gross or net profits, and that never pays a dividend in cash or in stock. It is a business that admittedly is not thoroughly organized, that is wasteful and inefficient in many respects, but it is a business that will never fail.

It is the business of education in the United States, nad it is not only the biggest, but the most important business in the world.

Its invested capital is in the land, buildings, and equipment devoted to educational purposes and its annual expenditure is the outlay required for maintenance, teachers, and management. Its stockholders include every man, woman, and child in the country. Its army of workers is made up of federal, state, municipal, county, and township officials, superintendents, principals, teachers, and pupils. Its product, which it can not sell, is the equipping of children and youths for life's strenuous battle. Its incalculable earnings, out of which it can pay no tangible dividends, are whatever of betterment the children and youths get from education.

Last year there were some 24,000,000 children enrolled in the public schools of the United States. This year, according to the United States bureau of Education, the enrollment in public and private elementary and secondary schools will probably reach 26,500,000, with another 1,000,000 in normals, colleges and universities, and possibly as many as 500,000 in correspondence schools.

Huge Property Investment.

The value of the public property used for school purposes is now in excess of four billions—it was $3,744,780,714 for the school year 1923-24. Last year the expenditure for public aducation approximated $2,000,000,000. Figures as to private and parochial minor schools, of which there are hundreds, are not available, but the otatls are obviously large. Universities, colleges and professional schools have property valued in the aggregate at more than a billion dollars, and endownments totaling almost an equal sum. In 1924 their receipts exclusive of private benefications for increase of endowment were more than $340,000,000. That same year they had more than 56,000 teachers, while the public school had almost 760,000.

The magnitude of the business of education is readily visualized from figures cited and estimates noted. And considering the fact that there is no unified control or management it is small wonder that in some respects the business is conducted inefficiently and wastefully. Schools are directed by innumerable boards, superintendents, and other officials. Taxes are levied for school funds on anything but a business-like basis in many instances. Rarely are school needs carefully budgeted and appropriations made accordingly. School equipment is seldom utilized to the maximum of its possibilities. In efficiency is often found in the teaching forces because of faulty methods of training and selecting teachers. Politics not infrequently creeps into the administration of school affairs, in small towns and villages as well as in the larger cities

CHEERFUL FOR THE INVALID.

Karl Kitchen, who writes a column of Broadway gossip for one of the New York papers, stands sponsor for this revised version of an ancient but justly popular wheeze.

According to Kitchen, it seems that a very distinguished motion picture producer—a man who is looked upon as a leader of the industry—went to call on one of his actors, who was critically ill. In fact, it was because he was told that his former employee was dying that the producer visited the out-of-the-way tenement on the East Side where the actor was gasping out his life.

The great producer spent several minutes at the bedside of the dying man trying to cheer him up with the promise of a leading part in his next picture.

"Why, you'll be yourself in no time," he went on. "I'll have you out in California and I'll make a real star out of you yet."

The actor smiled a weak smile of protest. He did not have the strength to utter a syllable again the extravagant promises of his former employer.

The caller took his departure. Starting down the narrow stairs he bumped his head against the ceiling.

"Ouch!" he exclaimed. Then in a perfectly audible voice he added, "I wonder how in thunder they expect to get a coffin down these steps!"

Salesman For Skin Cream Learns How To Clear Up Pimply Complexion

Arthur Reich, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I was a salesman of creams for healing pimples, blemishes, etc., but when my face broke out with blotches, pimples, and blackheads I tried one salve after another with no permanent results.

"I found it as impossible to sell skin cream as a bald-headed man finds selling hair tonic. Finally I decided I would have to get at the cause—the blood. I was amazed to find that within a few days after taking Carter's Little Liver Pills, my skin took on a new healthful look, blemishes started to disappear and I felt like a new person all around. Now I know what to do when I have a pimply skin, you bet." This old reliable remedy treats such complaints in a safe way. It has been used all over the world for 67 years. For sale at all druggists.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers From Indigestion or Stomach Trouble CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by chronic acid stomach," says a well known authority.

Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis accompanied by dangerous stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach with pepsin or artificial digestents that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines.

Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little hot water and Bisurated Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. There is nothing better than Bisurated Magnesia, to sweeten and settle an acid stomach. It soaks up the harmful excess acid much as a sponge or blotting paper might and your stomach acts and feels fine in just a few minutes. Bisurated Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use, is not a laxative and is not at all expensive.

RALSTON RED MACK'S DANCER

Clever Stepper With Comedian's Company at Strand.

Frank Ralston.

Frank Ralston, clever dance with the Red Mack Players, now at the Strand theatre, is responsible for all the terpsichorean numbers that are seen during the action of the many plays that this popular organization is offering.

"Little Frankie," as he is known back stage, is constantly on the alert for new ideas for his pretty choristers, and makes many trips east for new ideas in dancing. He is also the designer of the beautiful wardrobe that the choristers wear.

Nightly after the show, Ralston and his girls are debating new ideas in dance ensemble, and figuring out new creations in wardrobe to please the eye of the Strand patrons. Two and three a. m. finds them plodding merrily home, tired but happy, as they have accomplished their purpose in putting together all new steps for the new play that is to come.

This is somewhat of a job as the Mack Players offer two plays every week.

"Big Parade" Seat Sale at Ceramic Opens Tomorrow

Seats go on sale tomorrow for "The Big Parade" which comes to the Ceramic for three days beginning Thursday night, with matinees Friday and Saturday. This Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production is now in its second year at the Astor theatre, New York and has had record runs in all the larger cities. Many playgoers here have already brought word of its fine quality and have eagerly advised friends to be sure and see it.

When the road company comes here to present "The Big Parade" it will have its own touring orchestra and the New York presentation. Thus those who visit the Ceramic theatre are assured that they will see "The Big Parade" to the same advantage that it is displayed in the large cities. King Vidor has created a stirring and thrilling picture from the Laurence Stalling's story, but the fact remains that it is the inherent love and laughter of the yarn which has made for its great success.

SIXTY-NINE philosophers from 18 countries will gather at Harvard. A philosopher "loves wisdom," trying to understand what cannot be understood.

From Thales to Suinoza, it is the same story, "We know the questions, but not the answers." The best effort was made by Locke, in his "Essay on the Human Understanding," seeking to establish the limits of human inteligence.

Benedetto Croce, famous Italian philosopher and atheist, life member in the Italian senate, was brought up religiously. He became an atheist when an earthquake killed his father and mother, his only sister, and almost killed him. Had his family been spared he would have said, "That's a miracle," and might at this moment be more religious than ever.

army officials this morning on relief measures, and a presidential proclamation may be issued calling on the nation to lend a hand to the stricken communities of Florida.

A message from V. J. Sherman, General chairman of the relief committee at Hollywood, Fla., said:

"Help urgently needed in Hollywood due to devastating hurricane. Ten thousand homeless, 100 killed, 1,000 injured. This only preliminary estimate. Most urgent necessities are tents, cots, bedding, food, medical supplies, lightweight clothing, doctors, nurses. We will eventually need permanent reconstruction. Immediate action necessary."

Several officials of the National Red Cross left the capital hurriedly last night for Florida to make personal surveys of the damage done and the extent of relief necessary.

W. F. Busch, general passenger agent of the Florida East Coast railroad, in another message estimated that 38,000 people are homeless and more than 700 killed in Miami and nearby towns.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Special trains were organized here today to speed relief to the suffering thousands in the Florida hurricane disaster.

The first unit, with doctors and nurses aboard, left over the Illinois Central this morning. Other trains, bearing food supplies, tents and hospital equipment will leave during the day.

Dr. Herman R. Bundesen, Chicago health commissioner, headed the staff of doctors who left this morning.

Contributions to the relief fund were pouring in from all sections of the middlewest today, following a radio appeal issued by Mayor Dever and Gov. Len Small.

50,000 Homeless

Almost 50,000 persons are homeless or living in temporary shelter in southern Florida, according to checks by railroad officials who have been throwing all their resources into the gigantic task of restoring transportation facilities. For the first time since the storm struck, a through train from Miami arrived here last night, bringing all those who could crowd aboard with gripping stories of the desolation left by the storm.

Militiamen Shoot Looters.

The Miami train passed two long sections of a Jacksonville train bearing food, medical supplies and relief workers. Three hundred state militiamen hastily ordered to mobilize by Governor John W. Martin, a hundred Red Cross nurses and doctors and sanitation experts from the state board of health on the train were the vanguard of northern Florida's relief measures.

Piles of dead in Miami hotels being used as temporary morgues, large broken ships resting in streets five blocks from the water front where they had been blown by the storm, virtual destruction of residential districts for blocks and militia shooting down looters of debris, were some of the pictures brought back by the survivors last night.

The huge resort hotels where the social celebrities of the nation gather in winter are in many cases damaged beyond repair, passengers from the train declared. Practically every window in the Breakers, Biltmore and other large hostelries has been broken by the storm, and many of the smaller hotels are in danger of collapse.

Martial Law Ordered.

Stories of families seeing their homes demolished or their loved ones killed were heard today. A Miami beach police man, on his way back to his home at Philadelphia said he saw 200 bodies in the McAllister hotel lobby and cellar at Miami.

Sheriff Henry Chase of Dade county in a radio message picked up by amateur wireless operators here asked 600 coffins be sent to Miami.

The tropical radio station at Miami which afforded the main communication with the outside world after the July 27 hurricane, was almost demolished by the storm, and succeeded in broadcasting weak appeals for aid early yesterday only after heroic work had been done to contruct a makeshift radio tower.

The local chamber of commerce meeting last night organized preliminary relief measures with all large civic organizations and business houses volunteering the limit in resource to help storm victims.

Governor John W. Martin passed through here early this morning en route from Tallahassee to southern Florida where he will personally direct a large part of the relief work. The governor has ordered martial law at Hollywood, Fort Lauderdale, Pampano and Dania and several other smaller cities. Troops are now patrolling the Palm beaches and Miami.

SALE OF GROUND SOUGHT IN SUITS

Sale of a farm of 122.13 acres in section 10 in Hanover township is asked in a petition filed in common pleas court by Attorney K. L. Cobourn, of Salem, in behalf of Mary M. Callen and against John J. Batzli, against whom judgment for $1,400 and $97.88 costs was returned in common pleas court March 20th last.

The petition sets up that Harry W. Loudon and the First National bank of Salem have an interest in the property, and the petition asks that these interests come into court and establish their claims, and that the court order the sale of the premises to satisfy the judgment already rendered.

The court has been asked to order the sale of three lots owned by Abe Griffiths and Nellie Griffiths in the Belmar plan of lots at East Liverpool to satisfy a judgment for $198.29 obtained against them by the Windland Bros. Lumber Co. of East Liverpool in the court of Justice P. V. Mackall at East Liverpool Feb. 23, 1925.

The entry made in common pleas court confirming the sale of property in the case of the Union Banking company against Eric P. Allenburg and others has been stricken out by Judge Spence on a motion filed in this case, and the action now stands with the order of sale. The case was filed Feb. 15th last and sought money and foreclosure of mortgage.

Seek Citizenship.

Wilhelm Tunnat, aged 35 years, a native of Germany, and employed as a glass cutter and residing at 242 Prospect street, Salem, has filed his declaration of intent to become a citizen of the United States. He arrived at New York April 17 last.

A similar declaration has been made by George Reid, aged 35 years, residing at 170 Garfield avenue, East Palestine. Reid is a native of Scotland and is employed as a kiln fireman. He arrived at Boston, Mass., Nov. 12, 1922.

Exceptions Taken.

Exceptions have been taken by counsel for the American Mutual Insurance company to the overruling of its motion filed in common pleas court in the matter now pending against it, the petition being filed by Tony Cascio. In this action Cascio sued the company to recover $2,615.55 claimed due him as a fire loss on his property and covered by a policy held in the defendant company.

Suit Instituted.

Through his counsel, W. S. Potts, S. L. Andrews has filed a petition in common pleas court against James Hanley, claiming $450 due on a note for $600 given the plaintiff by the defendant. Interest from May 12, 1925, is asked.

Marriage Licenses.

L. H. Orebaugh, of Cleveland, employed as a salesman, and Miss Esther Hunt, a clerk, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Hunt, of Salem, have been granted a marriage license by Judge Lodge Riddle. The couple returned to Salem, where they were married by the Rev. Collier of the Salem Methodist Episcopal church.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed.

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel wall are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutin won't do it.

G. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at C. G. Anderson, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

Riley's Men Win Fourth Game, 12-5, In Tenth-Inning Rally

Crash Out Six Hits In Extra Frame and Break 5-5 Deadlock

Mike Pitches First Series Contest and Allows Laughlin Six Safeties; Ashe Holds Rivals Level Until Grand Finale When Bombardment of Base Hits Drives Him to Bench.

Two days have dawned, as the movie sub-titles would say it, since the perennial City Industrial League flag rivals clashed in a climacteric ten-inning contest at Newell Saturday, but the spectacle of a desperate band of fighting ball hands, battling to keep intact the slim thread of chance upon which hung fading pennant hopes, suddenly unleashed a barrage of crashing base hits that sank the good ship Ashe and brought about a surprising 12 to 5 conquest for Chester remains today with followers of the victors and vanquished alike.

To Chester fans, victory starved, it was nectar and ambrosia; to Newell it was the bitter dregs; sending the hopes of Rileys cohorts skyrocketing to the heights; imbuing the phalanxes of McCoy with a deep-stilled determination to come back and get 'em in the fifth and final.

Mike Cebula, like the cat, came back—a black cat, at that, for it was no lucky day for Laughlin.

Pitching his first game in almost two weeks during which he nursed a sprained wrist, the 'big train" of the Chesterites curled 'em and smoked 'em down the alley for 10 tortuous innings, working carefully, never faltering in the face of five-thumbed performances on the part of his defense at several critical junctures, until "Parse," Newell's good, old reliable "Parse," swung and mised the final sizzler and the day was over.

And it was Mike, who, when his team was trailing, 5 to 4, in the eighth inning and even "Connie Mack' Riley's head and spirits were drooping like a wilted rose, stepped to the plate, with two down and Heckathorne on second by virture of a two-bagger, and burned a single down the third base line to make possible the tenth inning in which Chester not only broke the deadlock but crashed it all over the lot to the tune of six hits and seven runs.

And Ashe?

Yes, Ashe was a hero in defeat. No Industrial league pitcher ever put up a gamer battle than the elongated one, who fanned no less than 12 Chester batters and held the visiting hordes to six safe drives until that tenth inning. And then McCoy had to drag him out as he stood up there and gave them everything he had. Ashe allowed three walks, only one of which produced a run but he, too, carried on against odds, passed balls and erratic infield heaving aiding the enemy run makers on several occasions.

And to "Pus" Herbert, third sacker, goes considerable credit for Laughlin's comeback in the fourth when they tied the score at 2 to 2, and their spurt in the sixth when two more Laughlin runs crossed the plate to give the down river aggregation a one-tally lead.

Chester stepped out to a two-run lead in the fourth and Herbert's single to right brought in the run that knotted the count after Crawford had scored on a single, a stolen base and a passed ball.

Newell annexed another run in the fifth when Babb, who reached first on Pete Cebula's error, scampered home on Bubin's two base blow.

Crawford-Herbert Collaborate.

Crawford singled again in the fifth and Herbert drove him home with a two-bagger, to tie the count, scoring himself on a two-station wallop by Sayres.

There is no question as to hitting honors for the day. These laurels bedeck the brow of First Baseman Heckathorne, of Chester, who, in six trips to the plate, doubled twice, singled twice, sacrificed once and then wound up his afternoon's stick work by striking out. "Heck's" bat was a potent piece of timber for the victors.

Third Baseman Green ogled two walks out of Ashe and collected two hits in six times up.

Bubin's work in left field was a formidable factor in the Laughlin defense tactics. The big boy, who also contributed a timely clout, captured two hard chances.

Wilde, who coaches Chester high school footballers between "baby world's series" games and who has covered everything on the Chester club but the hole in the toe of Pilot Riley's stock, was stationed for the day at second and took five chances out of six that came burning down his way. He plays any of the infield jobs, occasionally in the outgarden and may pitch in the next series tilt.

Roland "green cap" Crawford, Newell center fielder, was a big gun in the Laughlin attack and played a generally valuable brand of ball for the losers.

The contest gave every indication of producing a long winded pitchers' battle until Chester broke into the scoring column in the fourth. Four Chester batters faced Ashe in the first inning, Green alone getting on as a result of a walk. Heckathorne sacrificed him, but Wilde popped out to Finley and P. Cebula went out, Finley to Babb.

In the second and third innings Chester, as well as Newell, was retired in one-two three order.

Scoring in Fourth.

The ice was cracked in the fourth. Heckathorne, first up, hit to deep center for two bases. Crawford made a brilliant effort to snare the ball, but fell short. Heckathorne then advanced to second when Hunselman let one get past him. Wilde went out, Sayres to Babb, and Heckathorne scored on Pete Cebula's single down the left field line. Ashe tried to catch Pete off first base and threw one too low, Cebula taking second. Mike fouled four times and fanned. Pete Cebula went to third as Hunselman dropped one of Ashe's offerings. George Cebula drew a pass and stole second. On Hunselman's short peg, Pete reached home, plunging into Hunselman at the plate. Marshall fanned.

Newell Swatters had something up their sleeves beside their elbows for his particular inning, too. Finley opened the inning by flying out to C. Cebula in right. Crawford slammed one through second for a single and stole second. Parsons reached first as Pete Cebula juggled his ground ball at short, Crawford going to third. Crawford came in with Laughlin's first run when one of Mike's fast ones got by Catcher McMath, Parsons going to second.

Herbert came through with a timely single to right, scoring Parsons, but was out at second as he tried to stretch the hit on the throw-in to the plate, McMath to Wilde. Sayers went out, Wilde to Heckathorne.

Their two-run lead shot to pieces, Chester went to work to put a couple more on. Stoffel, in the fifth, reached first on Herbert's low throw to Babb. McMath laid down a bunt and was safe as Herbert pulled Babb off the bag,—Stoffell going to third. Greene singled to right, scoring Stoffell, McMath going to third and Greene went out at second trying to make it a two-bagger.

Lead Cut by Newell.

Heckathorne bounced one through short, scoring McMath. The ball took a bad hop as Finley came in after it had bounded over the diminutive shortstop's head. Wilde and Pete Cebula fanned.

Chester's two run margin was reduced by one when Newell scored one in the last of the fifth.

Babb went to second as Pete Cebula, after fielding cleanly a hard hit ground ball, threw six feet over Heckathorne's head at first. Bubin then picked out a fast one and crashed it down the right field line into the crowd, scoring Babb and being held up at second, ground rules permitting only two-bags on the blow. Hunselman fanned. Ashe sacrificed, Wilde to Heckathorne and Finley went out, Wilde to Heckathorne.

Laughlin stock went sky high in the sixth when a game, uphill battle put the Newell aggregation into the lead for the first time during the tussle as two runners scampered over the plate.

Crawford, who had started things for Newell in the fourth, reached first safely as Marshall, in left, and Stoffel, in middle, pulled an Alfonso-Gaston act and permitted the Newell outgardner's easy fly to drop between them.

Mike, who apparently didn't mind the genuine base hits that went by him, was annoyed temporarily and the game was delayed as Riley sent Paul Bennett to left in Marshall's place. Parsons sacrificed, Mike to Heckathorne. Crawford scored on Herbert's two base hit to center, and Herbert counted as Sayres punched out a two-baser down the left field line. Babb bunted. Mike grabbed the ball and, aided by Pete, killed off Sayers mid way between secand and third. Bubin popped to Pete.

In the seventh, Chester batters went out in order and Chester hopes began to sag. Ashe was going good and that one-run lead looked like a mountain to the visiting ball club. McCoy had his lads on their toes, in there battling to keep that narrow margin. Some of the less hopeful Chester followers had begun to pick out the nearest exits.

Heck and Mike Tie It Up.

But Heckathorne, hitting at the moment at a 1.000 clip, stepped to the plate and laced out a two-bagger to right field and Chester pulse beats came back to normal again. Then Wilde popped up to Herbert and Pete Cebula lined one out to Crawford in center.

"I can't be beaten like this," muttered Mike as he selected a piece of timber and strode to the plate. "Not if I can help it," he grunted as the horsehide, propelled by a hefty wallop, skinned over the grasstops along the left field line and Heckathorne came tearing in from second base to tie the score at 5-5. But brother George fanned and Mike was left stranded.

Parsons, Herbert and Sayres were retired in order in the last of the eighth.

Ashe bore down in the ninth, fanning Marshall and Stoffel. Potts went out, Sayres to Babb.

Mike also had sometning on the ball as he whiffed Bubin and Hunselman in the second section of the ninth, and Babb grounded out, Pete Cebula to Heckathorne.

The game went into the tenth inning and then it happened.

With cataclysmic suddenness, Chester bats broke out in a rash of base hits and pounded in seven runs as the power with which Ashe had kept them subdued for nine long innings, lost its grip and fell away.

Ashe Shelled From Mound.

Green, first up, walked. Heckathorne beat out an infield rap to Herbert. Wilde laid down a bunt that stopped three feet in front of the plate and beat out the throw, filling the sacks. Chester fans broke into a frenzy as Pete Cebula, erstwhile Mid-Atlantic performer, met the apple on the trademark and sent it to the left field limits, scoring Greene and Heckathorne, being held up at second and Wilde at third under existing ground rules. Mike fanned, C. Cebula flied to Bubin, Wilde scoring.

Bennett drove one at Ashe. The pitcher was slow in getting it away and flung hurriedly to Babb, the ball bouncing off Bennett's back at first base, P. Cebula counting. Marshall reached first on Ashe's throw to Babb, scoring Bennett. Stoffell singled to right. Potts singled into short left field, Stoffel holding up at third.

Ashe was beckoned to the bench at this juncture and Briggle went to the mound. Potts, the huge Chester catcher, ambled to the keystone sack for a stolen base. Greene slapped one out for two bases and Stoffell and Potts finished the circuit. Heckathorne fanned.

Digman went in as a pinch hitter for Briggle in the last of the twenth and reached first as Heckathorne juggled his grounder. Finley popped to Wilde. Crawford hit an easy fly to Greene and Parsons fanned.

"THERE WON'T BE A SECOND BELL"--JACK

HIGH GRIDDERS OPEN SATURDAY

Clash With Sebring Here; Lineup Still a Question.

An air of seriousness permeates the Blue and White football camp today. Bill Cox's husky linemen are hunched a little lower, plunging a little harder; McCutcheon's backfielders are hitting a little harder, sprinting the ends a little faster, and Coach George Kidder is driving the whole combination with a sterner hand—The first game of the season is just six days away.

The Blue and White crew is anxious to open with a victory and they intend that Sebring shall be the first victim. The Mahoning countians fell before the locals just a year ago and will tumble again unless all signs fail.

Coach Kidder has selected no definite lineup as the team goes down the last training stretch before actual warfare opens, but possibly he has a combination figured out as a starter. The willingness and ability of a crew of burly linemen will make it difficult to pick seven outstanding performers from among Ends English, Cordwin, Deems and McKee; Tackles Smith, Clark, Anderson and Carney; Guards Swaney, Kinsey, Irwin, Todd, Gefeller and Allison; and backfielders Davis, McConville, Bromby, Kirkham, Fullerton, Lincoln and Van Dyne.

There is only one job that can be selected at present without fear of contradiction. There is hardly any question about Dick Larkins starting at center. Outside of that it's more or less of a guess at the present stage of affairs.

Practice sessions will continue at City Park this week, portions of Patterson Field still being under water.

Dempsey is Guarded As Big Fight Nears

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Taking precaution against bodily harm—possibly by gunmen—Jack Dempsey has ordered six picked men from a local detective agency rushed to his training camp at Atlantic City, it was reported here today.

At present Dempsey is guarded by four of the "hardest" detectives in the country. Two of these are Sergeant Johnny Broderick and "Happy Jack" Smith, members of New York's famous 'strong arm" squad.

Cards-Reds Face Showdown Sunday On Redlegs' Field

NEW YORK, Sept. 20—Maybe the Yankees are "in" at least: Maybe an American league pennant that was as good as won in mid-August can be clinched in late September, now that this inspiring New York outfit enjoys a 3½ game lead with only eight games to play. But the greatest race in the history of the National league probably will send the Cardinals and Reds right on down to the wire, running jowl to jowl, with the ultimate show—down coming in Cincinnati next Sunday when the two contenders must face each other for the last time.

The writer happens to like the Cardinals, in spite of the fact that they must travel the rougher road to the pennant. They have five games more to play and two of them are with the Giants, who, yesterday brought the Cards back to their field by pulling out a 6 to 5 decision over Mr. Hornsby's favorite ball club.

Previously, the Giants had aided in the obsequies that marked the passing of the Pittsburgh Pirates and only the day before they beat the Reds at a most critical moment in the race, so the New York club can't be overlooked as a serious hurdle for the Cardinals in the last week of the race. The Reds, meantime, will be feasting on the tailenders, the Phils and Braves, and before the end of the current week, the Cards' one-game lead may have evaporated into thin air, or, at least, it may be no greater than it is today.

I favor the Cards for three reasons, one of which is the single game lead afore mentioned. This places the burden of proof right on the Reds, as any handicap must. But I like the Cards, also, because they are the better ball club and because they seem to have that unconscious something that one must associate with a pennant winner. The Cardinals look the part.

Of course, if the race must narrow down to a single game, pitching will play too great a part at that juncture to offer a medium for logical forecast. For one day at least, it is possible for the worst club in the world to beat the best and it may be that Cincinnati, playing before a friendly home crowd, will beat St. Louis next Sunday, although neither club comes under the above designations. They are just good ball clubs, of which one seems to have an almost undefinable edge on the other. In short, I think the Cardinals will win the pennant, regardless of what may develop during the final week.

As for the American league, the situation there has taken on that post-mortem air in which the word "if" becomes of paramount moment. By finally beating the Indians yesterday, the Yankees reached the "if" stage. Therefore, let it be known that if the Indians win all of their remaining seven games, the Yankees can finish in a tie by winning four of their remaining eight. In other words another defeat or two for Cleveland will just about finish them, even if the Yankees continue to look as bad as they really happen to be. They seem destined to win a pennant in spite of themselves.

FINAL BATTLE ON WEDNESDAY

Deciding City League Tilt to be Played at Chester.

The fifth and deciding game of the "baby world's series" of the City Industrial League will be played next Wednesday afternoon at Smith Field, Chester.

The contest will begin promptly at 4 o'clock and will go nine innings.

Decision for these arrangements was made in a conference between Managers Saul McCoy, of Laughlin, and Frank Riley of Chester, late Saturday evening.

"Tails," chosen by Pilot Riley, turned up in the toss-up by President C. C. Cline, league president, Boss McCoy having selected "heads."

With a 4 o'clock start it is figured that a full nine-frame engagement can be completed before darkness.

Wednesday was chosen as the time for the game by reason of the fact that business houses of both the West Virginia towns use it as a half-holiday.

Both clubs, too, will have a helpful interim of rest following the extra inning combat of Saturday.

Both team leaders are optimistic of the outcome of the forthcoming crucial game.

"We are going to win now, sure," affirmed Riley to McCoy during the negotiations. "I have three pitchers now: Mike, Wilde and Stoffell, even though P. Bennett does go back to Wabash college. After fighting under such difficulties as have been ours I feel the spirit of the Chester club has reached a point that will carry them through to a victory."

But Sol McCoy won't stand for such optimism on the part of the up-river delegation. "Laughlin always has and always will come through," he rejoined. "You will get a taste of Digman, and he will be more fit by the time of this game. The breaks went against us in one inning Saturday, but the club played fine ball, at that. We are ging in to win and don't make the mistake that we are not."

The Yankees came to life and pounded out an 8 to 3 victory over Cleveland, stretching their lead to three and one-half games. Gehrig clouted three doubles and a home run and Ruth got his forty-third homer of the season.

'I'm Going To Lay Out Gene In First Round'

Champion, Reassuring Normile Following Filing of Suit by Kearns, Says He'll Show 'em How Little He Ever Did Need Former Manager; Asserts He's in Shape.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 20.—"Never mind getting upset, Gene, there'll never be a second bell in this fight with Tunney."

The speaker was Jack Dempsey and the remark was made Saturday night at a pow-wow, the details of which have just come to light today.

When Dempsey learned that Kearns had started some legal proceedings against him here on Saturday, he went to Gene Normille, his manager. Normille was angered and launched a bitter tirade against Kearns.

"Kearns has done everything that a human can do to try to get you upset and get your mind so worried about this legal suff that you might not be able to keep it on the fight," Normille said.

Dempsey's answer came with unfailing smile.

"Sure, that's what Kearns is really aiming to do," he replied. "He wants me to lose because he figures if I blow the title in this fight he then can tell the folks that he was the boy who kept me a champion. He doesn't want me to win because it would show how little I ever did need him."

Dempsey put a hand on Normille's shoulder and with the smile gone from his face, said:

Will End It Quickly.

"Just to prove to you and to prove to the world how little this thing is upsetting me, I'll make you the promise that for this fight there'll never be the need of a second bell. In some of the fights in my career I've worked to hammer a man down gradually and win without too much effort. Outside the Firpo fight and the Willard fight, I never let go with punches that carried everything I had in them. But this fight—well, this will be different. When the bell rings I am going out after Tunney and if he is up on his feet when the first round is over, then I'll be more surprised than I ever have been in my life."

Dempsey seems unconcerned about the suit which Kearns filed and which resulted in Dempsey being declared a temporary bankrupt and barred from leaving the state. Kearns demanded an accounting of all the money Dempsey received during the life time of their three-year contract from Aug. 3, 1923, until Aug. 3, 1926. To insure appearance in court Tuesday Dempsey was required to post a $100,000 bond.

The champion's last public workout was to be staged here this afternoon. The main part of the program called for shadow boxing and bag punching.

The Browns nosed out the Athletics in the tenth, 5 to 4. Rice had a perfect day at bat with four hits.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions.
"Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

Made Differently

If judged only by comparison of tobaccos, Lucky Strikes would be the best on the market.

They contain the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and perfectly blended.

But beyond that is an extra process—toasting—which gives them real distinction, making them indeed superior.

In smoking Lucky Strikes, you will find:

1. Finer Flavor. Toasting for 45 minutes develops the hidden flavors of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos.
2. Smoothness. Toasting for 45 minutes removes all "bite" and harshness, hence never any throat irritation.
3. Freshness. Then the tobacco is suddenly chilled. This seals the flavor in and insures constant freshness.

To attain these unique results, extra money is spent to give you added pleasure. This added effort brings extra goodness which accounts for the growing popularity of Luckies.

"It's toasted"

That's Why Luckies Taste So Good

Letters Approving Alien Claim Read In Daugherty Case

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Correspondence relating to the approval by the office of former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty of the American Metals company's claim to $7,000,000 worth of assets seized during the war as alien property was introduced today at the trial of Daugherty and Colonel Thomas W. Miller, formerly alien property custodian.

Daugherty and Miller are charged with conspiracy, the government alleging they defrauded the United States of their "honest, unbiased and impartial services" in connection with the return of the property to the foreign interest.

Two letters purporting to show how the attorney general's office O. K'd the claim in 1921 were introduced this morning while Cyril W. McLean, of Oakland, Calif., was on the stand. McLean, who is a lawyer, was chief clerk in the department of justice during the Daugherty administration of that office.

Walker Whiteside, Coming Here, Plays At Alvin Theatre

Walker Whiteside, whose long transcontinental tour will bring him to this city on Tuesday evening, Sept. 28, at which time he will present his latest dramatic success, "The Arabian," opened a week's engagement at the Alvin theatre, Pittsburgh, today.

From the gifted pen of Gordon Kean, who wrote "The Hindu," this fascinating comedy-melodrama, has proved to be a genuine triumph, for "The Arabian" jumped into immediate popularity immediate after its initial performance last March. The author has provided Mr. Whiteside with a stirring, straightforward story of keen adventure in the great Sahara Sands, where Abd el Rey, a famous bandit, holds undisputed sway. A strong British force is sent into the burning sands to kill or capture the brigand who is known to his followers as "Zantra." This astute personage is fully informed by wireless of the plans of his enemies, and eventually the troop train falls into the bandit's hands. An act of treachery imperils the lives of all concerned in "Zantra's" capture, but the intrepid English heroine beards the bandit in his opulent ten and saves her lover and his companions from the impending wrath of the enraged brigand.

Whiteside has long been note for his impersonations of oriental characters, and it is said that his interpretation of the bandit, "Zantra," is quite the finest acting he has ever done. The supporting cast which will be seen here is headed by Miss Sydney Shields, whose splendid acting in other plays will be readily recalled. This famous stage beauty will enact the character of Diane the heroine, who brings the Zantra to a realization of his debt to society.

Haskin's Letter

with resultant blunders and laxities if nothing worse.

In the circumstances, the amazing thing, according to those who are studying the problem, is that this gigantic business is on the whole so well conducted. The people of the nation, who are the stockholders, may have cause at times and in various cases to feel that their money is being wasted, but in the long run they have the satisfaction of knowing that they are getting the best educational system in the world, and one that is being improved constantly.

Dr. H. A. L. Fisher, Great Britain's minister of Education during the World War, recently spent some time in this country inspecting our schools. In the light of what he found here he said that in America "education is the great harmonizer, the nation maker, the essential American thing." He also stated that in pedagogical experiments, material equipment, and in school buildings this country led the world, and that in our provisions made for our adolescent children we were far ahead of Great Britain, as we were in providing financial support for education.

The Bureau of Education.

The United States Bureau of Education, which is a unit of the department of the Interior, conducts surveys, collects statistics and facts showing the status and progres of education in the states and territories, and disseminates information on all phases of education. It is, in fact, the national clearing house for educational information.

The activities of the bureau are divided into four parts—field service, research and investigation of special educational problems, educational surveys, and dissemination of information. In one year 28 surveys were made. In the same period Dr. John J. Tigert, commissioner of education, spent 137 days in the field, conducted four national conferences, and delivered 157 addresses before audiences aggregating more than 87,000 persons. Twenty other members of the bureau's staff rendered 616 days of field service outside the District of Columbia, seventeen of them delivering 185 addresses before audiences totaling more than 45,000 persons.

Typical investigations undertaken by the bureau include: Residence and migration of university and college students; engineering curricula; standards and sources of standards in educational; administration of rural education; tendencies in state courses of study; the training of rural teachers; high school education of the farm population; use of intelligence nad acchievement tests; nature-study courses in normal schools; work-study-play curricula; industrial education in penal institutions; home economics in junior and senior high schools; and relation of home economics to the social sciences.

Washington, California, Ohio, New York and New Jersey are the leading school states, according to the bureau authorities.

One unusual fact may be mentioned in connection with California. That state actually has more children enrolled in its schools that it has children of school age in its population as shown by the census. This apparent impossibility is explained by the fact that many families from other states take up their winter residence in California and send their children to the California schools, although they are not citizens of nor included in the census figures for the state.

'FINE MANNERS' AT CERAMIC

Gloria Swanson and Eugene O'Brien are Stars.

Any old job looks better than mine," H. T. Webster's famous line, now has a brand new advocate.

It's Eugene O'Brien, dapper society hero of the movies. After all the years in which O'Brien has been wearing immaculate outfits, he would now like to throw aside the spats and cane for a — well, you'll never guess.

"I want to play cowboy roles," asserts O'Brien. "Why must I always be a well-dressed man? The robust, swash-buckling heroes of the open spaces are the kind of parts I'd like to do!"

Mr. O'Brien's confession came while Gloria Swanson's latest Paramount picture, "Fine Manners," was being filmed. Gloria overheard him, and smiled, just a little bit.

"Boulder, Colorado, was my home town," says Gene, "and I was a hard-riding kid. Since coming east, I haven't been on a horse. Even in 'Frivolous Sal,' I took the part of an eastern weakling."

O'Brien's role opposite Miss Swanson in "Fine Manners," which opened a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre today, he admitted, is a good one, sympathetic and wholesome enough to satisfy anyone.

"But, just look at these clothes," he added. "Me for a white hat, woolly chaps, and big, bad six-shooter! Jack Holt, Tox Mix and Bill Hart are the lucky lads!"

COLLEEN MOORE AT AMERICAN

"It Must Be Love" is Feature Screen Attraction.

Should a girl put love of a sweetheart above love of parents?

This is one of the puzzles which make the character played by Colleen Moore in "It Must Be Love" one of the most interesting and appealing in that piquant actress' screen career.

"It Must Be Love" opened a three-day run at the American theatre today.

The girl portrayed by Miss Moore comes to a crossroad in her life when she realizes that the home back of her father's delicatessen store is not good enough for her friends.

At least that is what she believes, although the story's ending proves the truth to be otherwise. Because of her misunderstanding, then, of her own pride many heart-breaking moments follow her taking up a new home away from her parents.

The picture, however, is not all sentiment; it is full of laughter, as a Colleen Moore offering always is.
